Opening lead — king of clubs.

If you look at all four hands, it would seem that South will go down one with normal play.

After West leads the K-A-J of clubs, declarer ruffs, loses the king of trumps to the ace, wins the trump return, draws West's last trump, then tests his luck by playing the A-K-Q of diamonds. When the jack fails to drop, declarer plays the K-X of hearts from dummy and finesses the jack to go down one.

True, if declarer had extra-sensory perception, he would not take the heart finesse. He would cash the A-K, nabbing the queen, and in that way make the contract.

Yet, properly considered, the fact is that South should make four spades even if he does not have the advantage of seeing around corners. After three rounds of clubs and spades have been played, he should deliberately lead his last trump, discarding a heart from dummy.

When he then plays the A-K-Q of diamonds, West showing out on the third round, this becomes the position:

Declarer plays dummy's king of hearts and then the eight. East produces the 10-9 on these tricks and South, who has the A-J of hearts left, faces the fatal decision.

Actually, this is not a hard decision to make. Since East's only remaining card at this point is known to be the jack of diamonds, it cannot be the queen of hearts. South therefore goes up with the ace, catches the queen, and thus makes four spades.

Colonic Irrigation Habit

As long as I can remember my father and my mother have had colonic irrigations to "clean out the poisons in the system," they say. Now they want me to do the same thing. They read your column and I know would be persuaded by what you say.

Mr. J.J.F., N.J.

Dear Mr. F.: One of the most difficult problems confronting physicians is freeing people from myths and fancies.

At the turn of the century, colonic irrigations in France were rituals that no one questioned. Soon the fad spread to the United States and attracted a large group of devotees.

Regular colonic irrigations "to remove poisons" have no validity whatsoever. In fact, the indiscriminate use of enemas and colonic irrigations may, in the presence of unrecognized bowel conditions, be fraught with extreme danger.

In very specific instances, doctors will recommend an occasional irrigation, for a very specific purpose. Then, and only then, should it be done.

We have long since departed from the dependence on laxatives, enemas and colonic irrigations as the answer to all of man's ills.

I hope you can induce your parents to give up this habit. Certainly, you should not fall into the trap of perpetuating this unwise practice.

What is the best way to treat a muscle bruise? One of our children is always getting a bruise of one kind or another.

Mrs. H.G.L., Mich.

Dear Mrs. L.: The application of cold immediately after a muscle has been hurt tends to reduce the swelling. If a tiny blood vessel has been broken the blood seeps into the fibers of the muscle and makes it tender and swollen. Cold applications will tend to stop the bleeding and minimize the discoloration.

However, after an hour or two the cold has served its function. Then, a switch to heat will lessen the pain and be helpful in absorbing the blood.

The temptation to massage an injured muscle must be resisted. Vigorous massage can start the bleeding and further injure the muscle.

AMBITIOUS FARMERS

The meeting of the Senior Ambitious Farmers 4-H Club was called to order by Rod Garringer, president, Kevin Stockwell led the Pledge of Allegiance while Jeff Schlichter led the 4-H Pledge.

Officer and project books were given out to members, and it was announced that a hog sale is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday at the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Roll call was made by Susan Coe; Jimette Cornell read minutes of the previous meeting; and Kevin Stockwell and Susan motioned for acceptance. A health report was made by Rusty Coe on the "Human Body," and Kennon Wissinger gave the safety report on "Farm Safety."

Chris Schlichter and Jimette Cornell moved for adjournment.

The next meeting will be April 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Fairgrounds. This will be a lamb and hog clinic. All members are urged to attend, since this is considered as a regular meeting.

Where is photographic going? Well, wander into the Washington Savings bank — ups, sorry about that, never can remember the new name — and you'll see another exhibit of photographic art from McCoys. You see here why, more and more, people are recognizing that the best photographers are in the smaller towns, like here. This goes for the pros and also the amateurs. And it's a fact that our county has more than its share of top lensmen in both pro and amateur ranks. Don't ask why, just enjoy the fact that that's the way it is.

This flame of excellence in the photographic art may be fed by the slower pace of the small town. The flame shows itself, for example in the consistent quality and imaginative composition of Stu Gossard's flawless color work. Consistent — you better believe it — 36 out of 36 is par for Stu. And John Halliday's avant-garde pix. Some of John's stuff knocks me out; some slides right by. Then there's the studied perfection and consistent good taste of Howard Miller's slides. You can usually spot Miller's stuff because this boy has a way of seeing the important thing that the crowd missed, and he gets it on film.

Mood? The master of mood is Dale Wade. Whether the subject is a child, a sunset, or maybe a lone tree on a plain, this boy can grab the mood. The eloquence of this lad's camera is something else.

There's one thing these people have in common, pro or amateur, and that is the understanding of the basic photographic tool, the camera, and a high degree of skill in its use. Practice, man, practice; there is no short-cut. And it's where you go from there that makes photography the greatest hobby and the most rewarding profession I can think of. There's a little of the artist in all of us, and after we master the camera we soon find out where our talents are.

Famous cry to be heard Friday

'The British are coming!'

By SANDY FOSSON

The city of Washington C.H. will be transformed into Boston, Mass. and the famous cry of "The British are coming!" will be sounded by Jim Huffman of New Holland portraying Paul Revere during the opening of the Fayette County bicentennial celebration Friday night.

In conjunction with the performance of "The Music Man," being staged at Miami Trace High School, the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee will reenact the historical Paul Revere ride on the same date Revere dramatically rode into history books by warning colonists of advancing British troops.

ACCORDING to local historians, on April 18, 1775, Revere, who was accompanied by William Dawes for a major portion of the ride, rode on horseback from Boston harbor to Lexington, Mass. to sound the alarm of the approaching British command.

The two were joined by Dr. Sam Prescott near Lexington and all three men were captured by an advanced guard of the British command, but the alarm they were sounding through a succession of dinner bells ringing to spread the word could not be stopped.

Friday in Fayette County, Washington C.H. will become Boston, Paint Creek will be the harbor and Bloomingburg, originally named New Lexington, will be designated Lexington during the re-enactment. The Fayette County Courthouse will be the Old North Church where signal lights will be hung in its dome.

Kenneth Craig, chairman of the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee, said the hanging of the lanterns in the courthouse will begin at 10 p.m. Friday and members of the Happy Trails Riding Club will perform "a near copy" of the famous ride.

Jim Huffman as Paul Revere will be rowed across Paint Creek in Eymann Park and will mount his horse, where he will travel on North Street to Gregg Street and onto Lewis Street, which becomes Ohio 38. He will be joined by Bill Greene as William Dawes at the Bloomingburg-New Holland junction and the two men will continue towards Lexington (Bloomingburg) where they will be met by Eddie Hill as Dr. Prescott.

The ceremony will end in Bloomingburg park at approximately 11 p.m. around a large campfire with entertainment provided by the Washington Senior High School band.

The re-enactment of the ride will take place along with Miami Trace High School's musical so that playgoers will be able to attend the conclusion of the ride in Bloomingburg, according to commission members.

The bicentennial committee is also sponsoring an exhibit of the famous Caulfield and Shook photography collection, which will be displayed Friday in the Miami Trace High School lobby before and after the musical.

The Ohio Arts Council has loaned the Washington C.H. Arts Council the exhibit of 37 photographs taken by the early 1900 photography firm. The pictures, which have been prepared by the University of Louisville, Ky. and belong in the University of Louisville Libraries Photographic Archives, depict life in Louisville from 1910

Reds tighten ring around Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Khmer Rouge insurgents moved their 105mm artillery to the southern outskirts of Phnom Penh today and began shelling the central part of the city.

The government's territory around its beleaguered capital was growing steadily smaller. The airport west of the city was reported still held by government forces, but the four-mile road between the airfield and the city was blocked by insurgents occupying the Pochentong market.

The Communist-led insurgents moved their captured 105mm howitzers closer after driving the Cambodian army from the town of Takhmau Tuesday, three miles south of Phnom Penh.

Clouds of black smoke hung over the besieged city. Ten people were reported killed and 30 wounded in one area by the shelling.

The population fled from the southern part of the city or huddled in bunkers as the bombardment increased.

Government forces north of the city were reported to have established a defense line about five miles up Highway 4. But the government positions there were reported under attack from after midnight until dawn.

The east bank of the Mekong river across from Phnom Penh also was lost to the insurgents.

The government radio broadcast orders for a 24-hour curfew beginning at noon. A line of armored personnel carriers was guarding the information ministry across the street from the Hotel Le Phnom.

The International Red Cross declared the hotel a security zone for noncombatants and raised a huge Red Cross flag over the building. It barred all weapons and armed combatants and said all persons given refuge would not be allowed to take part in any activity in connection with military operations.

In South Vietnam, North Vietnamese forces bypassed Xuan Loc and overran government troops holding a strategic highway crossroads 30 miles east of Saigon, field reports said. But the reports said the government forces who have been battling the North Vietnamese at Xuan Loc for a week continued to hold the provincial capital 40 miles east of Saigon even though it has been leveled and is now isolated.

Services slated Friday for air crash victims

MOUNT STERLING — Services for Dr. Robert J. Bacon, 44, of Columbus, and his wife Carol, 34, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Porter Funeral Home, Mount Sterling. The couple was killed Monday night when their single-engine private plane crashed in Portage County, Illinois, near the Indiana border.

A member of the Fayette Memorial Hospital emergency room staff since January, Dr. Bacon and his wife were returning to Columbus from a weekend trip to visit friends in Oklahoma. The Terre Haute, Ind., airport reported that the physician had contacted the tower shortly before the crash to notify them that he was having difficulty. It was raining at the time, and visibility was very poor.

At approximately 8:15 p.m. the plane smashed into a small ravine in a wooded area several hundred yards from a farmhouse. The crash site was about 40 miles from the Terre Haute airport.

Dr. Bacon had purchased the Piper aircraft only one month earlier, and the Federal Aviation Administration had difficulty identifying the victims because the plane's registration had not yet been filed in the official records. It was still under the name of the former owner.

Prior to joining the local hospital staff, Dr. Bacon had been associated with Orient State Institute Hospital, Berger Hospital in Circleville, and the Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mrs. Bacon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kelley, Mount Sterling, had been employed at Orient State as a personal medical secretary. The couple was married last July. They made their home near Bolton Field in southwestern Franklin County.

A native of Van Wert, Dr. Bacon was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bacon, Hamilton, Ind., who survive. Also surviving are his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Bessie Bacon of Fort Wayne, Ind.; a brother Richard of Ogden Dunes, Ind.; and five children, Mrs. Greg (Vicki) Holden, Mucutine, Iowa, and Bruce, Brent, Mary and Deborah Bacon, all of whom reside in Auburn, Ind.

Surviving Mrs. Bacon in addition to her parents are two daughters, Teresa and Monica McClary; two sisters, Mrs. Richard (Anita) Green, Rt. 4, London, and Mrs. David (Sharon) Caudill, Mount Sterling, and relatives in Fayette County.

Officiating at the services will be the Rev. David J. Nixon. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery, near Mount Sterling.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and evening as well as until the time of services on Friday.

Phan Rang, 160 miles northeast of Saigon and one of the government's last two enclaves on the central coast. The command claimed that 20 enemy tanks were knocked out and fighting was continuing.

Another battle was reported at Ben Tran, in the Mekong Delta 35 miles south of Saigon. The government said two of its A37 jets were shot down and three men were lost, while casualties in the ground fighting were 26 Viet Cong and two government soldiers killed and 18 government men wounded.

Coffee Break . .

THE FIRST summer show of the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association will be held April 19-20 on the Fayette County Fairgrounds beginning at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

A large crowd is expected to attend the weekend show and all exhibitors inside the three enclosed buildings must be members of the association, said Coyt A. Stookey, secretary-treasurer.

However, many displays of coins, antiques, furniture and miscellaneous items will be set up for sale outside, also.

Parking is 25 cents per car, including for exhibitors, and any car parked so as to block other cars, building entrances or driveways will be towed away at the owner's expense, Stookey reminded.

A special addition to the first summer show this weekend will be the Sharp's Four-Barrel competition. . . Items entered will be judged and a trophy presented to the winner. . . No item will be considered unless the secretary has been notified of those wishing to participate.

Dues for 1975 membership in the association may be paid at the show.

Bulldozer attack on bank fails

INDEPENDENCE, Ky. (AP)—Directors of the Covington Trust & Banking Co. are thankful they decided to put a basement in their new drive-in branch here.

Thieves used a stolen, 10-ton bulldozer to break into the bank Tuesday morning but they never reached the safe. The bulldozer fell through the floor into the basement.

The thieves apparently fled in a flat bed truck used to haul the machine to the bank. It was found abandoned several miles away.

Manager Robert Dickey estimated damage in excess of $40,000. He said the branch would be open again in about a week.

Solons eye evacuation cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — With most Americans in the process of leaving South Vietnam, Congress is considering a $200 million fund to assist in the withdrawal and to provide humanitarian aid for the Vietnamese.

The $200 million figure was agreed upon tentatively Tuesday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Final decision was deferred until late today amid an indication that the panel wanted a final assurance that Americans were indeed leaving Vietnam.

Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said Tuesday there were 3,850 Americans there. Last week, the total was more than 6,000. Officials say privately the total will be cut to about 1,000 within two weeks so they can be evacuated quickly in any emergency. "Schlesinger said Americans are trickling out" of Saigon, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the U.S. Embassy there has been instructed to reduce the number of Americans in the country to an essential minimum.

The $200 million fund is separate from President Ford's request last week for $250 million in humanitarian assistance for South Vietnam and $722 million in military aid. Those requests were supported separately before Senate and House panels Tuesday by Kissinger and Schlesinger.

Senate Foreign Relations Chairman John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., said the tentative draft bill in the committee is aimed at "getting the Americans out" of South Vietnam safely if their lives become endangered as the result of North Vietnamese military advances.

He said the President would be authorized to use part of the $200 million to provide U.S. troop protection for the safe evacuation of Americans, if necessary.

He said nothing in the bill would bar the incidental evacuation of South Vietnamese endangered because of their association with the American and South Vietnamese governments. But he said weapons aid to the South Vietnamese is not contemplated.

Kissinger told the Senate Appropriations Committee that the United States has no legal obligation to assist South Vietnam. "We base our case on moral obligation," he asserted.

Asked if there were any promises to President Nguyen Van Thieu that the United States would use armed force or resume bombing in the event of a massive North Vietnamese violation of the 1973 Paris peace agreement, Kissinger said Thieu was promised that the United States "would not take violations lightly," but "we did not say specifically what we would do in those cases."

Schlesinger told the House Armed Services Committee that, in his judgment, 200,000 South Vietnamese might be killed if the Saigon government falls and that the toll could go to one million.

Kissinger said that if the $722 million in military aid is approved, there is a chance of stabilizing the military situation and providing opportunity for a negotiated settlement of the conflict.

But he said the administration would press Congress later for approval of $1.3 billion in additional military aid already requested in the budget for the 12 months beginning July 1.

Asked when aid to South Vietnam might stop, Kissinger said: "I can't tell you there is a clear-cut terminal date."

Pseudo-tragedy planned here within next two months

Preparations launched for city's second mock disaster

BY MARK THELLMANN

Few people remember November 21, 1973 as "a day of disaster" in Washington C. H.

Come on, think back! Thirty Washington Senior High School students were either killed or severely injured when an unidentified flying object exploded over Gardner Park, where the students were engaged in a soccer game! Remember?

Fortunately the students involved were only dead or disfigured for a couple hours during Fayette Memorial Hospital's annual "mock disaster," and now it's time to do it again.

Hospital administrator Robert Kunz called a meeting of people and agencies involved, Tuesday to briefly discuss the upcoming mock disaster. According to Kunz, the pseudo-tragedy will take Washington C.H. by surprise sometime within the next two months or "before construction starts on the new hospital wing," he said.

"Mock disasters" are required by the National Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation for all hospitals every year, just in case a situation in which many people are injured ever presents itself in Fayette County.

Kunz hopes to work out many of the bugs present in the November, 1973 disaster. Problems resulted when the Washington C. H. Fire Department responded and were told by some people to assist the injured while others told them to put out an imaginary fire.

Consequently they ran in circles while police and sheriff's deputies tried in vain to find out what had happened. Apparently the word on "when" and "where" for the disaster had slipped out, but when officials reached the scene, no one would tell them what had happened!

Another problem dealt with priority of the severely injured which were supposed to be loaded into the ambulances and taken to the hospital first, but there was no one with medical status to point out who goes immediately and who waits, so the victims were loaded at random.

To combat these problems, which were brought up during Tuesday afternoon's meeting, Kunz promised firemen a real fire this time if there was to be one, better communication with all agencies involved and a "triage team" to determine victims needing quickest medical attention.

As soon as the disaster strikes the hospital will be closed to all people not directly involved in the holocaust. Fayette Memorial Hospital personnel have official identification in the form of a rearview mirror sticker, a special ID card and a name tag. Unless you possess these necessary materials or can fradulate some authentic copies, stay clear of the hospital! You won't get in — even visitors not involved will be thrown out that day — and you'll

DISASTER PLANNING — Fayette Memorial Hospital Administrator Robert Kunz met with law enforcement agencies, medical personnel, members of the news media and other persons involved in the "disaster network" of Fayette County, to plan the hospital's second annual "mock disaster," which will take place sometime within the next two months. All hospitals are required to conduct one such "mass emergency drill" every year by the National Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Rose Cummins

GREENFIELD — Mrs. Rose Cummins, 80, Rt. 4, Hillsboro, died at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday in Highland District Hospital, Hillsboro. She had been ill the past nine months.

Born in Scioto County, Mrs. Cummins' husband, Edgar, died in 1967. She was a member of the Greenmont-Oak Park Community Church, Kettering.

She is survived by a son, Edgar T., of Wilmington; a daughter, Mrs. Clarence (Delma) Moon, Rt. 4, Hillsboro; four grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Lottie Miller, of Greenfield, and Mrs. Daisy Russell, of Pickerington; and two brothers, Raymond Taylor, of Lyndon, and Corbett Taylor, of Wilmington. She was preceded in death by three sisters.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Friday in the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield, with the Rev. Noble Miller officiating. Burial will be in White Oak Grove Cemetery, near Buena Vista.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday.

VIRGIL E. TICE — Services for Virgil E. Tice, 57, of Sabina, were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Faith Lutheran Church, Wilmington, with the Rev. Francis Gerken officiating. Mr. Tice, a supervisor in the electrical engineering department at the Cincinnati Milacron Co., died Saturday.

Mrs. Gilbert Humphrey was the organist and pallbearers for the burial in the Lutheran Cemetery, Richmond, Ind., were Ed Franklin, Earl Holland, Dennis Ling, Norb Fawley, James Kroencke, Gilbert Humphrey and Robert Kraner. Honorary pallbearers were Shirley Colvin and Pat Siple. Burial was under the direction of the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina.

Car sales fail to turn around

DETROIT (AP) — Car sales in early April failed to signal the spring upturn which auto executives hoped would put the industry back on its feet.

The Chrysler Corp. revealed it had an operating loss of $170 million in the last quarter of 1974, more than double

Welfare measure stirs floor fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State senators vote today on a supplemental welfare appropriations bill which is almost certain to stir up a partisan floor fight.

Republicans in the Democrat-controlled chamber said they would seek to restore the measure to the way it was when submitted by the Republican administration.

Its passage in some form was expected, however, so the nearly broke welfare department can continue to meet its obligations until the state begins its new two-year budget period July 1.

The department asked $14.7 million originally to meet increasing welfare case loads, but committees of the two houses tacked on nearly $6 million more over Republican objections.

Among the new provisions is one that would create a network of 12 regional welfare offices around the state, which Welfare Director Denver White says are not needed. There are reports GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes may exercise his "line item" veto on the measure.

In major floor action Tuesday, the Senate approved 31-0 a bill that permits utilities to avail themselves of state-only contribute to traffic tie-ups.

Another warning was issued by the planning group to the public, "don't tie up the switchboard either!"

One sticky question arose during the meeting concerning what would be done if the disaster struck the hospital itself, but disaster services agency coordinator for Fayette County, Ralston Smith, put the group at ease explaining there is a 300-bed hospital ready to be put into operation at a moment's notice, located in the basement of the Fayette County Children's Home.

Kunz mentioned that next to the problem of curious people and thrill-seekers tying up the switchboard and traffic flow, rumors were also a big problem, but a rumor control center will be established and manned during the event by members of the media.

So, sometime within the next two months, all heck is going to break loose in Washington C. H. during Fayette Memorial Hospital's second annual "mock disaster," so be forewarned and remember to keep the roads and telephone lines clear because if the real thing ever happens, discussing the tie-ups afterwards won't bring back any lost lives. The "Thank you's" will come later and they'll be worth the wait.

Mainly About People

Area students named to the Dean's List at Otterbein College, Westerville, for the winter quarter are Mrs. Nancy White Riker, daughter of Mrs. Frank White and the late Rev. White, of Bloomingburg, and Bonnie Lou Spears of Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spears.

Bill against leg hold traps killed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Admittedly incensed over being characterized as "bumpkins", members of a House committee voted 15-0 Tuesday night to kill a bill to outlaw leg hold, steel jaw animal traps in Ohio.

The vote, at the close of a raucous session of the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee, apparently puts the issue to rest, at least for this year. Sponsors said they would be back again, however.

Laos shrugs off Indochina fighting

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The coalition of leftists, neutralists and rightists that governs Laos seems to be taking in calm stride all that is going on in the rest of Indochina.

"Laos will stand firmly and strictly in a neutrality policy regardless of whatever changes or circumstances," the neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, said recently as the Communists tightened the noose around Phnom Penh in Cambodia and took over much of South Vietnam.

The only sign of stress is an unfinished debate about whether Laos should continue to recognize the governments in Phnom Penh and Saigon. Laos decided earlier to maintain diplomatic links with whoever is in charge of the capitals of Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The Communist Pathet Lao members of the coalition want immediate recognition of the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government in South Vietnam and the Royal Government of National Union of Cambodia, headed by exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Western diplomats here say Laos is More than 500 sportsmen and trapper opponents of the bill raised signs and cheered every point made by their witnesses. The meeting lasted nearly three-hours, after being scheduled in the big Ohio Departments Building a block from the Statehouse.

Several farm country members of the committee, headed by Rep. John E. Johnson, D-68 Orrville, made direct references to a newspaper columnist's description of them as "rustics and bumpkins", saying generally they are proud of their heritage.

"I'm not going to apologize for being raised on a farm," said Rep. John P. Wargo, D-2 Lisbon, whose comments were echoed by several other committee members.

Rep. Harry Malott, D-87 Mount Orab, said he, like others on the panel, received hundreds of letters on the bill which would have permitted only the use of so-called "instant kill" trapping devices.

"I'm following the wishes of the people in the 87th District, and I'm going to be in the legislature for two more years," said the Brown County lawmaker.

The committee members referred to a column earlier this week in the Dayton Journal Herald by its capital correspondent Hugh McDiarmid. In it, McDiarmid suggested the committee's rural membership had doomed the measure and Tuesday night's hearing was "just so much excess baggage . . . overkill." The columnist described the committee as a showcase "for barn yard politics."

Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, who sponsored the measure on behalf of various humane animal treatment groups, said he held little hope for the measure, anyway, "but that newspaper article did it. They couldn't wait to kill it."

Prominent among the opposition witnesses was Dale L. Haney, acting chief of the Ohio Division of Wildlife. He gave assurances that the annual harvests of Ohio's estimated 48,000 trappers do not jeopardize the state's fur bearing animal populations. He said the harvest consists of about 1.4 million pelts and represents an addition of about $7 million a year to Ohio's economy.

Other spokesmen included veterinarians who contended the steel jaw trap is a major deterrent to rabies, mange and other diseases that otherwise would spread quickly among wild animals.

By The Associated Press
A blanket of heavy cloudiness is expected to spread into Ohio tonight, bringing some showers on Thursday. A few scattered thundershowers were also likely in the Ohio Valley.

Temperatures tonight under cloudy skies were forecast to lower only into the 30s and 40s.

Brisk southerly winds were expected to develop Thursday, in advance of a spring storm brewing on the Great Plains and moving into the lower Mississippi Valley.

A chance of showers Friday, but little or no precipitation Saturday and Sunday.

Farm bill faces Ford veto action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A farm bill raising 1975 target prices and dairy price supports still faces a possible presidential veto although the version approved by a House-Senate conference committee was the less expensive of two proposals.

Aides to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said the measure approved by the conferees remains unacceptable and that Butz would recommend a veto.

Ford's legislative aides passed the word last week that Butz's cost estimates had convinced the President to veto whatever bill emerged from the conference committee. But then Republican conferees met Monday with Ford and found him willing to reserve decision but worried about the costs.

"The only chance we have is to stay pretty close to the House bill," Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said before the conference committee met.

And that's what happened. The bill approved by the conference committee closely resembles the $210 million bill passed earlier by the House. The other bill considered by the panel was the Senate-passed version that committee staff experts had estimated would cost $950 million.

The bill is scheduled to go before the Senate Thursday or Friday and before the House next week for final approval.

Dispute remained over how much dairy prices would increase for consumers.

Staff experts said increases in dairy price supports of seven cents per 100 pounds would mean an increase of half a cent per gallon in the retail price of milk. Cheese would go up 0.6 cent a pound and butter 0.7 cent a pound, they said.

Administration estimates are double these predictions.

The bill would set 1975 crop target prices at 45 cents a pound for cotton, $2.25 a bushel for corn and $3.10 a bushel for wheat. The government pays farmers for the difference between the target price and the market price when the market price is lower.

Cotton is already near its present target of 38 cents in some places. The bill's supporters say grain farmers, being urged to produce at full capacity, need assurance that the lower prices of the anticipated bumper crops will not bankrupt them.

Stock prices move lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned downward today in profit taking after the sharp rally of the past six sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than 72 points from a week ago Monday through Tuesday's close, had dropped back 7.20 to 807.88 by noon today. Losers outstripped gainers by more than a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said it was natural for the market to encounter some resistance from profit takers after such a steep advance in so short a time.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .13 at 82.64.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was down .22 at 45.44.

Butz decides to stay on through 1976

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has decided to remain on the job at the request of President Ford, possibly through the 1976 presidential election, according to sources in Congress and the administration.

According to the sources, Ford asked Butz earlier this month to remain in the Cabinet indefinitely. For more than a year there have been rumors that Butz soon would leave the post he has held since a 51-44 Senate confirmation vote Dec. 2, 1971.

Butz was said to have indicated to associates before Ford's request that he was seriously thinking of leaving his $60,000-a-year Cabinet office in late June. He will be 66 on July 3.

An aide said Tuesday that Butz now plans to remain as long as Ford wants him. The aide said that "pressure was put on him by the White House to stay a little longer" but he did not indicate how long that might be.

One source speculated that Ford wants Butz to remain partly to avoid any possible upheaval and controversy that might arise if a successor had to be named.

The source, asking not to be identified, said an extensive Senate confirmation hearing on a successor would "open the political door all the way" to allow the Democratic majority to criticize Ford administration farm policies on the eve of an election year.

Another source, however, said Ford's request for Butz to remain could be withdrawn abruptly if farm belt Republicans feel the outspoken secretary is a political liability to them.

Butz has been adamant in seeking less government control of agriculture and more reliance on free markets instead of federal subsidies for farmers. This has not gone over well with many farmers who have seen their prices decline and costs continue to rise.

Gold sales prove slow

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans still seem immune to gold fever.

In the 3½ months since bullion ownership became legal last Dec. 31, gold prices at both the retail level and on contracts for future delivery at major commodity exchanges have plunged about 18 per cent — from $200 an ounce on New Year's to around $164 an ounce Tuesday.

In the last two trading sessions, all four major exchanges where gold futures are traded have seen sharp price drops in unusually heavy volume.

The recent strength in the dollar and U.S. stock market and signs inflation is easing have contributed to the drop from the initial lack of gold enthusiasm, according to Chicago gold trader Larry Blum.

And gold analyst James E. Sinclair of the Wall Street firm of Vilas & Hickey says the recent ban on gold coin sales in Britain, and a misapprehension among traders that the French government would support gold prices above $170 an ounce — the level it revalued its gold stocks last January — also pushed gold prices lower.

The first Jewish community was established in North America in 1654, when 23 refugees fled Brazil after the Dutch lost it to the Portuguese.

Opinion And Comment

Three who were deposed

Rep. Wright Patman of Texas is 81 now and has been a member of the House of Representatives since 1929, longer than any of his colleagues. He remarked the other day that "the seniority system is good," and added: "They have tried for 100 years to find something better and haven't."

Many of Patman's younger colleagues differ with him as to this. They view his ouster from the House Banking and Currency Committee chairmanship after 12 years in the saddle as evidence that the seniority system was found wanting.

Patman shares his fall from power with a couple of other House veterans, Rep. F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana and Rep. W. R. Poage of Texas. At 73, Hebert finds himself no longer chairman of the Armed Services Committee over which he had presided for years. Poage is 75, and had long worked with agricultural interests as chairman of the Agriculture Committee. He and Hebert also were deposed in last January's upheaval.

The abilities these three men brought to their separate chairmanships were considerable. So was their taste for running things pretty much as they wanted them, and their capacity for doing so. This brought about a great deal of disgruntlement among younger members, but until the changes were made at the start of this session they had been helpless against the seniority system.

It is a stultifying system, one which tends to concentrate congressional power in the hands of members who come to Washington from "safe" districts and keep being re-elected. Such members may be extremely able, but that is not the decisive factor. Yet ability, not to mention the qualities of energy and alertness which inevitably wane with age, should be the primary requisite for holding the chairmanship of a standing committee.

Nursing problems said widespread

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Nursing problems at a variety of institutions across Ohio jeopardize the safety of patients and staff, an investigatory commission reports.

A 40-page preliminary survey by a commission reporting to the Ohio Department of Health warns that in nursing homes, homes for the elderly and mental hospitals, nurses aides sometimes have responsibilities beyond their capabilities.

"This can and does lead to patient and personal injury," the commission wrote.

In long-term care institutions, the 54-member group adds, "the number of registered nurses and licensed practical nurses on evening and night duty is so low as to raise the question of patient safety."

Employment practices and working conditions at such institutions fail to attract and retain nurses, and salaries do not enable the facilities to hire specialists, the commission found.

At hospitals, the commission discovered that recently graduated nurses often are expected to work with patients suffering from relatively severe injuries as if the nurses were experienced.

Only 1.2 per cent of hospital nurses have earned graduate degrees, so leadership posts often go to nurses who are not prepared for the responsibility, the report states.

The commission says registered nurses frequently are assigned to an assortment of shifts and units during a week, reducing their chances of detecting significant changes in patients' conditions.

Ten Ohio counties have no hospital, the commission notes.

The report is the result of an 18-month study by a group the health department named two years ago. The commission is to submit its final report to the Ohio Department of Health in June.

Hearings by the Ohio Commission on Nursing will be held on the preliminary findings starting Friday in Cincinnati.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Wife craves attention

while hubby pets the dog

DEAR ABBY: If you could see my home, car and clothes closet, you would probably think I was the luckiest woman in Boston. Well, I'm not. But I could be the most frustrated. I sometimes want affection so much I could just curl up and die.

My husband is a very successful businessman. I know he loves me, but he's not the demonstrative type. He shows our dog a lot of affection, though. Abby, you don't know how frustrating it is for me to sit there and watch my husband with the dog on his lap. He cuddles him and scratches his neck. That pup gets more loving than I do!

I just hate to be the one to always make the first move. Why are men so dumb? When we go to bed at night and he wraps those big, strong arms around me, I'm so happy, I hate to fall asleep. He's so good and dear and sweet and INSENSITIVE...and I'm so frustrated. What should I do? Sign me,

"PLENTY OF NOTHING IN BOSTON"

DEAR PLENTY: Don't sit around waiting for your hormones to dry up. MAKE your husband notice you. You may have to shove the dog off his lap, but you can make it up to him (the dog) come "BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK"

And what's wrong with making the first move? It's better than no moves at all. Be aggressively affectionate. Some men LIKE to be pursued. Try it, and if nothing happens, you haven't lost anything.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know of any organization of medical school that might be interested in buying a person's body?

I have always wanted to donate my body to science since I don't relish the thought of being buried. But with times being so bad right now, I'd like to sell my body to a medical school that would pay me in advance. The money would come in very handy now.

By the way, I sure do enjoy your column. I can't get over some of those books who write to you.

A MAINE READER

DEAR READER: I know of no organization or medical school that pays for bodies. People leave their bodies as a "gift" to a medical school.

DEAR ABBY: After reading about the mother who was upset because she couldn't get her teenagers to keep their rooms reasonably neat, I had to share this amusing incident with you:

My home is always neat and orderly with the exception of my teenage daughter's bedroom, which was always a mess. Drawers open, clothes thrown everywhere, her bed unmade, etc....

I fussed, threatened, punished, but to no avail. Finally I just gave up and kept her bedroom door closed all the time so I wouldn't have to look at the mess.

One day our house was robbed. For some strange reason, all the burglars took were the television sets. I called the police, and they sent two policemen to investigate. They asked me to accompany them while they checked each room in the house to find out if anything else was missing.

When they opened the door of my daughter's bedroom, they gasped, "Good grief! they certainly ransacked THIS room!"

I calmly replied, "No. It always looks like this."

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, April 16, the 106th day of 1975. There are 259 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
In 1917, Communist leader Vladimir Lenin returned to Russia after years of exile to assume leadership of the Russian revolutionary movement.

On this date—
In 1521, Martin Luther arrived at Worms, Germany, after being summoned to appear before the Diet to justify his attacks on the Catholic Church.

In 1789, George Washington left Mount Vernon for his inauguration as the first president of the United States.

In 1862, Napoleon III declared war against the Mexican leader, Juarez.

In 1906, the Pacific cable was completed between the United States and China.

In 1947, more than 500 persons died in fires and explosions at Texas City, Texas, after a French freighter loaded with nitrate blew up.

In 1967, in South Vietnam, a U.S. bombing mistake cost the lives of 14 at a village housing defectors from the Communist side.

Ten years ago: Congressional sources disclosed that the Johnson administration had decided to build a small atomic submarine to carry out the first extensive exploration of ocean bottoms.

Five years ago: Seventy-two persons were killed in an Alpine avalanche that plunged down on a children's sanitarium at Sallanches, France.

Thought for today: The best way to get rid of your duties is to discharge them — John Ruskin, English writer, 1819-1900.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, APRIL 17

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Keep plans flexible: changing situations could make revision necessary. On the personal side: Romance and travel highly favored.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Don't let rumors and idle speculation cause you to become anxious and (or) indecisive. Carry out your plans as scheduled. Things should turn out well.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A fine day for advancement along lines important to you. Don't veer off on tangents, however, or good effort will be wasted.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You should receive information which clarifies a financial situation. It may not be all you hoped for, but at least it will help you to proceed in a profitable manner.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Personal relationships under something of a cloud. Stress diplomacy. A high-handed attitude will only make you unpopular.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A good period for finalizing agreements. Some unusual background activity will provide the spark that hurries matters through more quickly than expected.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Unusual tact needed here — in family, social and business circles. Don't "rock the boat" or stir up dissension — only too easily done now, if you are not alert.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Fine Mars influences! Be on the lookout for good leads, projects with substantial, background. Business interests especially favored.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Stellar aspects excellent! If any of your plans have been stymied lately, THIS is the time to try again. Imagination and originality stimulated.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Tendencies to avoid how: undue suspicion of others, groundless fears, a desire to invade the privacy of associates. Concentrate on your own activities.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Alertness, reading between the lines, will keep you on the beam. Be consistent in all endeavors. Some new advantages indicated.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A good day for trying out a new idea or method. You have the ability to turn the ordinary into the interesting, improve the mediocre with a novel twist. Use it!

YOU BORN TODAY are highly individualistic, independent and endowed with a wealth of talents upon which to draw for an eminently successful career. Depending on your leanings and education, of course, you could shine in either the business world or in the field of art — may even combine both successfully. You write very effectively and could excel in the fields of literature or journalism. You are a born money-maker and may be too materialistic at times but, at least, you should never be in want. You have a gregarious personality and your charm and wit win many friends. Traits to curb: overaggressiveness and extremism.

dubitably plain for anyone who reads history with some care.

Have all our commentators forgotten Sen. Homer Ferguson's exchange with Adm. Charles Maynard Cooke at the Institute of Pacific Relations hearings before the Senate Internal Security Sub-Committee in 1951?

Said the Admiral, who had commanded the U.S. Seventh Fleet, "... the Communists were being very well supplied in Manchuria by the Russians from arsenals and from captured Japanese guns and ammunition. ..."

"So," Sen. Ferguson interjected, "we knew that the Communists were getting arms and ammunition and also it was our policy to put an embargo on the Nationalists?"

"That," said Cooke, "is right."

Our Asian policy has hardly been an edifying one. But maybe it is unrealistic to suppose that a country of continental proportions such as the United States, with ever-shifting problems of its own, can be expected to hold to the same constancy of purpose that small, well-knit nations such as Switzerland and Israel — yes, and Chiang Kai-shek's own Taiwan — are able to exhibit year in and year out.

Maybe there is a lesson in Chiang's life that almost everyone has missed. The Generalissimo's party, the Kuomintang, was driven off the mainland because the Communists had the arms. Corruption in the Kuomintang hurt Chiang, who once said that there wasn't enough ammunition in China to shoot all the crooks and traitors. But corruption does not explain a New York Times report of 1947 that the guns of the fleeing Nationalist armies were so worn that "bullets fell through them to the ground." No matter; Chiang failed on the mainland. In the pinch we averted our gaze.

But on Taiwan, the Kuomintang, under Chiang's leadership, achieved a great success. It did it by following a policy of promoting an accommodation of the classes. Communist revolutionists, in the mainland China as well as in Soviet Russia, "solved" their land problem by starving the middle peasants into submission while murdering the big landlords.

But Chiang, in Taiwan, found a way of taking land from absentee owners without depriving himself and his party of the skill in practical affairs that the old landlord class had developed. The new government on Taiwan bought the land for the tenants by paying the old owners 70 per cent in bonds, and 30 per cent in stock in government enterprises. Since there were fortunes to be made in cement, the landlords became the new entrepreneurs.

Taiwan now has a flourishing peasantry and a flourishing middle class. It is a beacon for all Asia, if only Asians who are blinded by the stupid politics of the Marxian class struggle could see it.

The U.S. let mainland China go to the dogs. Its Congress has followed the same churlish route in denying follow-through support to the South Vietnamese. The big question now is whether President Ford, who is contemplating a trip to Peking, will cap our Asiatic blunders by rendering it necessary for Taiwan to fight alone. They used to speak of England as "perfidious Albion." Will it be "perfidious America" tomorrow?

7 doctors back on job

By The Associated Press
The seven Ohio anesthesiologists who remained away from all but emergency surgery at General Hospital and People's Hospital in Mansfield for a week were expected back at work today after they found what they consider adequate malpractice insurance.

The doctors said they reached an agreement Tuesday with an insurance company for malpractice coverage and would resume fulltime practice.

Dr. Nabil Fahmy of Associated Anesthesiologists of Mansfield Inc. said the group wanted a minimum of $2 million coverage, but settled for less than a million.

"It's not what we were looking for, but we can live with it until the bill (before the legislature) is passed," he said.

Both hospitals in the central Ohio community of 55,000 had closed portions of the facilities and postponed elective surgery when the anesthesiologists stopped working last Wednesday.

Student volunteers key to MT library program

By SUSAN THACKER

This week libraries across the nation are making a special effort to promote libraries and their use. April 13-19, 1975 is National Library Week, sponsored by the American Library Association and its state affiliates. This year's theme is "Information Power!" emphasizing the important role that books, periodicals, and all other library materials play in educating the public and providing means for recreational reading.

At Miami Trace, the library program draws upon the volunteer support of students who serve as library assistants. These workers perform a variety of tasks from working the circulation desk to processing new materials for use. At the same time, they are acquiring valuable insight into how libraries are organized and the specialized resources which they contain which will be of practical assistance to them in higher education and in adult life.

Students are encouraged not only to make use of the library during National Library Week but also throughout the entire year in order that they might increase their "Information Power."

New student teacher

By DANNY PEARCE

Mr. David Drake, a student teacher at Miami Trace this year, will graduate from Ohio State University in June.

Mr. Drake is in the vocational agriculture department and is teaching crop production, farm construction, welding, and electricity. Of the students he has to say, "The kids are easy to get along with," of the faculty, "They try to help the students;" and of the school itself, "It's in good shape."

Mr. Drake is single and presently living in Orient, Ohio. He is in charge of the cropping operation on a large dairy farm, planning to start a partnership in this and also hoping to teach vocational agriculture.

Pickets ignore court order

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — At least a dozen mines in eastern Ohio and northern West Virginia were picketed Tuesday despite a temporary restraining order issued Monday by U.S. District Court Judge Gerald Weber in Pittsburgh.

Pickets were stationed at eight Consolidation Coal Co. mines in the two states, according to the United Mine Workers District 6 office.

Pickets were initially posted early Monday after Consolidation dismissed 26 workers at the Rose Valley facility who refused to accept suspension for alleged picketing.

The UMW office said pickets also closed operations at three Valley Camp Coal Co. mines in West Virginia and North American Coal Corp.'s Powhatan No. 3 mine in Ohio.

But about 2,000 miners returned to work at all other North American mines in Ohio, the UMW office said.

Consolidation, North American, Valley Camp and the Pittston Coal Co. asked for the temporary restraining order to bring an end to the Ohio and northern West Virginia since early March.

Judge Weber enjoined the UMW, its officers, representatives and members from striking or supporting such strikes.

Weber also said that violations of the order would result in penalties of up to $10,000 a day.

The UMW District 6 office said between 3,000 and 4,000 miners were still idled by the strikes.

Republic Steel earnings rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Republic Steel Corp. reported strong rises Tuesday in first-quarter sales and earnings, saying the picture would have been better still but for the coal strike late last year.

Net income for the period was $33.7 million or $2.08 per share on sales of $673.43 million, compared with earnings of $21.48 million or $1.33 per share on sales of $585.44 million a year earlier.

The firm also said its steel shipments fell 20.5 per cent to 1.7 million tons, compared with 2.13 million a year earlier.

W. J. De Lancey, company president and chief executive officer, said the firm expects shipments to drop during the summer but that there will be a general turn-around in business later and a resultant upswing in steel demand.

Research at the Ear, Nose and Throat Department of St. Mary's Hospital, London, published in November 1968, shows that a rasping snore can attain a loudness of 69 decibels.

LINDA LOU LANDRUM

BETSY HARTMAN

Seniors of the Week

By DIANE CONLEY

Linda Lou Landrum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodrow, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling.

She has been a member of concert band for two years and this year belongs to an FHA mini-chapter.

When asked for comments on her years at Trace, Linda replied, "I have enjoyed my four years here, but I am really looking forward to graduating."

Her hobbies include watching TV and attending basketball and baseball games.

Betsy Lee Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.T. Hartman of 10681 Prairie Road, is our next featured senior.

Betsy is very active in various clubs, among them Y-Teens for two years, FHA for one year, concert band for two years, symphonic band for two years, marching band for four years, and stage band for one year. She has been secretary of FFA for two years and a member of 4-H Clubs for nine years, taking hog and sheep projects. She has also been on the junior fair board for two years and in Junior Leadership for three years.

"My four years at Trace have been very rewarding, and I encourage all underclassmen to make as many friends as possible. Good luck!" were the comments Betsy offered on her years at Trace.

Senior homemaking is Betsy's favorite class, and her hobbies include swimming and listening to music.

Betsy plans to attend Ohio State University, majoring in some phase of dentistry.

Ladybugs supported

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than three dozen pupils from Lincolnshire School in Toledo, garbed in red cloaks and wearing gold antennae on their foreheads, lobbied Tuesday for passage of legislation making the ladybug Ohio's state insect.

Some of the second and third graders visited the capitol last year for the same purpose, but then had their project lost amid other matters.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11

Toledo, sponsor of the pending resolution, said she hopes for better results this year.

The pupils determined in a class project, showing the tiny predator of harmful insects a major asset to Ohio crops, that it should have a place of recognition.

The youngsters seemed to impress members of the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee. A vote on the measure was deferred, however.

Tuscarawas County auditor resigns

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — Seven-term Auditor Donald R. Kinsey of Tuscarawas County resigned Tuesday effective June 1, citing an inability to get along with the county commissioners.

Kinsey, 61, of rural New Philadelphia was unopposed in his most recent election.

The Democratic Central Committee will appoint a new auditor who will serve until the November 1976 election.

Rev. Broomhall Elmwood Aid speaker

Springlike appointments were effectively carried out in decorating the private dining room at Anderson's Restaurant Thursday afternoon for the meeting of the Elmwood Ladies' Aid Society. Hostesses were Mrs. Addie Barger, Mrs. Walter Parrett, Mrs. Dorothy Bell, Mrs. William Cook and Miss Mildred Moss.

Before the meeting, a dessert course was served to 21 members and eight guests. Forming colorful centerpieces were artistic floral arrangements cleverly designed by Mrs. Bell. Favors given were beautiful Bible bookmarks listing Scriptures on the plan of salvation.

Mrs. Barger, president, gave for her opening a cheerful thought on happiness. Mrs. Parrett offered an impressive devotional service concluding with the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Beautiful and fitting was the memorial service in tribute to the late Mrs. Gladys Brunner. Mrs. Ruth Smith read Scriptures after which she quoted Helen Steiner Rice's poem on "Death" and offered prayer.

Both annual and regular reports were heard, and several communications were also read. Members responded to roll call with reporting 103 calls and their favorite bird or flower. An invitation was extended to the Society members to attend the Cancer Smorgasbord being held at the Mahan Building on April 24. Mrs. Barger also called attention to the program on "creative living" for the handicapped scheduled May 7 at Grace United Methodist Church. Approved was a contribution to the Cancer Fund drive.

In the absence of Mrs. Dessie Huffman, card and flower chairman, the quarterly report was read by Mrs. Mary Stackhouse.

Since several months had elapsed from the last meeting a number of birthdays were recognized. Remembered with "Happy Birthday" were Mrs. Edna Blake, Mrs. Eunice Draper, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Emily Lanum, Mrs. Carl Meriweather, Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. Jane Weiland, Mrs. Margaret Runnels, Mrs. Edith Scott and Miss Mildred Moss.

Introduced as guest speaker was Rev. Marie Broomhall, of Hillsboro, whose interesting talk centered on the words "Life" and "Live". Her message stressed the importance of helping others and she projected the great need of love by elderly people. She touched on the devastating affect drugs and alcohol are having on the nation's young people. Young children in elementary school as low as the 4th grade level have become addicted and due to this alarming situation she felt that more supervising and counseling were needed. After her talk she presented everyone with a beautiful picture of Jesus on which was inscribed the "Ten Commandments".

Repeating the Aid benediction brought the enjoyable afternoon to a close.

With Mrs. Broomhall, those included as guests were Mrs. Raymond Reigel, of Lancaster, Mrs. Heber Deer, Mrs. Alice Bush, Mrs. B.W. Jones, Mrs. Donald Pemberton, Mrs. Dorothy Miller and Miss Mary Jo Cullen.

SPECIAL OFFER

Some ads are fun to read and beautiful to look at, but a good shopper learns to sort out facts from a "sell job." Some words found in ads sound impressive but actually mean very little, and others don't tell the whole truth.

"Discount prices" and "discount store" — generally this means prices are lower because the store cuts down on its own expenses and sells in large quantities. But there is no legal definition of "discount," so all prices won't necessarily be lower.

"Dresses as low as $5.00 — all dresses on the rack won't be marked $5.00. Probably only a few are and the rest may be much higher.

"Values up to $20, for just $10" — this is the reverse of the one above. Although there may be a few items worth $20.00, most may be worth only $11 or so.

"Compare at $1.98 — our price just $1.29" — it's possible that another store does sell the product at the higher price, but perhaps most other stores sell it at the lower price. It may not be the savings it sounds like.

"Limit — one per customer" — it is called a "loss leader" because the manager sells it at such a low price he may actually lose money on it. But it is worth a small loss to urge people to come to the store because once they are there, they probably will buy other things the store will make a profit on. It's worth a loss to "lead you in."

Here are a few general hints about buying — the first step in consuming — whether commodities or services.

1. Be aware. Find out as much about products as you can. Find out what's available.

2. Compare. Put one camera against another, one record player, one sweater, one box of spaghetti. Their quality within your price range.

3. Beware. Read labels, ask questions, check merchandise, investigate guarantees. Know your rights as a consumer.

4. Care. Know your responsibilities as a consumer. Care enough to report bad goods, bad services, bad faith.

LEARN MORE ABOUT BUYING

If you missed out on our free packet "A Look At Buying" Call 335-1150 to get your copy. Topics include: (1) Ads - Read and Understand Them (2) In The Grocery Store (3) In The Department Store (4) What's In A Package (5) When All Else Fails - Consumer Complaints. GREAT HANG-UP

When your TV is on the blink after three expensive service calls, when an order placed two months ago hasn't come but your check has been cashed, when a product is damaged on arrival — what do you do?

Complain! Not to your mother-in-law or to your neighbor, but when you can get action! So how should you complain to that retailer, serviceman, or manufacturer to get fast action?

Put first things first. Read the instruction book to be sure you haven't goofed. Then check the warranty or guarantee to know what is or is not covered. Now you're ready to call the store, the serviceman, or write the manufacturer.

State the facts clearly. Simply tell where and when you bought the product, its model number, brand name, its price, and what's wrong with it.

Don't "get smart." Sarcastic or abusive letters or phone calls are easily ignored by the complaint manager. Be friendly but firm.

Generally, write rather than telephone. A letter helps make your complaint clear and makes it a matter of record.

Keep copies of all information. Keep warranties, sales slips, price tags, instruction books or sheets, and copies of letters you write.

If you must telephone, no matter how angry you are, keep your cool. If you're angry, you will forget to give key facts.

When all else fails, call or write to as many interested parties as you think necessary.

You might want to include state organizations such as Consumer Protection Division, Department of Commerce, 275 E. State Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215, (Toll Free) Phone: 1-800-282-1960. The Better Business Bureau or our local Chamber of Commerce.

Your complaints will win better service and better products for you and other shoppers.

'Ohio's Battle Flags' Jeff DAR meeting topic

Mrs. Howard Burnett Sr. was hostess when members of the William Horney chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution of Jeffersonville, met Wednesday in her home for a national defense program.

Mrs. Louis Ulen, Regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form, assisted by Mrs. Max Morrow, chaplain and Mrs. Ottis Thompson, flag chairman, who led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Mrs. Earl Glass led the group in the first stanza of the National Anthem.

Mrs. Ulen gave a most detailed and informative report of the State Conference held in March at the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel, Cleveland. She then introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Harry Richter, Retired Colonel USAF, of Columbus, whose subject was "Ohio's Battle Flags." He is chairman of the Flags Preservation Committee. There are 10 restored Civil War flags, saved for posterity, and now on display in the Ohio Historical Society Building, Columbus, he said. This was most informative and interesting.

Mrs. Everad Broberg, secretary, read minutes of the February meeting and 24 answered roll call. Mrs. Norman Wissinger read the President General's Message and the State Regent's Message was by Mrs. Marvin Stockwell. Mrs. Carroll Ritenour read letters of appreciation for the monetary gift received in memory of a deceased member from Kate Duncan Smith School and a letter from Tammasee School for various donations.

Mrs. Thompson read a letter of thanks from Mr. Morrison Gilbert, Scout Master of Jeff Cup Pack 67 for the flag and standard presented to them recently, a gift from the chapter.

Mrs. C. S. Kelley, chairman of DAR Service to veterans, gave an interesting report of articles sent to Chillicothe VA Hospital and also a letter of appreciation from Mr. R. Comstock, Chief of Voluntary Service.

The American's Creed was read, and the hostesses thanked for their hospitality. A dessert course was served during the social hour.

Hostesses were Mrs. Harold Cline, Mrs. Charles Cline, Mrs. Nathan Ervin, Mrs. Earl Hite, Mrs. Blaine Strong, Mrs. Dale Kirk, Mrs. Neal McMurray, Mrs. Dale Horney and Mrs. Roy Fultz.

Crusaders meet in Goodson home

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodson were hosts when the Crusaders Class of Sugar Creek Baptist Church met in their home. The Goodsons presented devotions and read "Daily Prayers to Solve Your Cares."

Harry Campbell, president, conducted the meeting when plans were completed for the basement and bake sale to be held at the church beginning at 9 a.m. Plans for 'Family Night' for May 4 at 6 p.m. which will feature a carry-in supper, were also made. The Hitch Family of Columbus, will be special guests for the evening. The public is invited.

The meeting was closed with prayer by the Rev. Steven Doorneweerd. Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Gerne Donahoe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mills Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Breakfield, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carmen, and Rev. and Mrs. Doorneweerd.

Missionary talks of Africa

The Women's Christian Circle of the Southside Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall for the meeting. Sixteen members and two guests were present and sang "This is My Father's World," and Mrs. William Temple offered prayer. She also welcomed those who were attending the first time.

Hostesses were Mrs. Phil Johnson and Mrs. Phil Campbell. Reports were made and it was announced that Mrs. Dwight Foy will purchase punch cups before the Mother-Daughter banquet. During the presentation of committee reports, Mrs. Johnson of the project committee, announced a thank you note from the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center had been received for flowers from the Society.

Miss Margaret Williams, missionary to Africa, was guest speaker for the program. She told of Africa and its people, their beliefs and superstitions, and said that Africa is a land of great contrast with both modern cities and some primitive ones. She read from Proverbs 31, which told of the virtuous woman. She then compared a virtuous woman to an African lady, whose husband had left her with three children to rear alone. She tilled the crops, lived in a primitive hut, and later lost her home and all possessions destroyed by fire.

Mrs. James Pitzer, chairman of the M-D banquet, told of final plans and the banquet will be at 6:30 p.m. May 9 at the church. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Robert Dresbaugh or Mrs. Terry Morris by May 4. The banquet theme is "Say it With Love," and Mrs. Laverne Morse will be guest speaker. Various committees were announced.

Mrs. Richard Leslie, of the men's and boy's banquet, reported a theme of "Onward Christian Soldiers." Other announcements were for the "Conference for Christ," "Women's Retreat," at Bulter Springs, and "Area Fellowship" at Greenfield in May.

A recording was played of the pigmy tribe worshipping their "creator God of the forest" through songs of devotions. Miss Williams closed her talk with a prayer.

Items pertaining to foreign countries were placed on a table for all to review. The project for the evening was cutting out dress patterns for the African women and children. Miss Williams said the African ladies could sew but had no knowledge of cutting out patterns.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Campbell served refreshments.

Ohioana workshop planned

The annual Spring Tea and workshop of the Ohioana Library Association meeting is planned for 2 p.m. Saturday in the new quarters on the 11th floor of the Ohio Department's building at Front St., Columbus, to honor county chairmen. The trustees of the Association will be hosts. Mrs. J. Earl Gidding of 421 W. Court St. is a trustee and Mrs. F. J. Mayo of 4 Royal Court, is Fayette County chairman.

Chairmen will relate their experiences in gaining new memberships and in the promotion of creative writing and other Ohioana activities.

The Ohioana 1976 Yearbook, theme to the Ohio Bi-Centennial, will be discussed. This edition will be glamour with color pictures and special features, and will in time become a collector's item.

Southern State College to offer associate degrees in 12 areas

The new Southern State General and Technical College, recently chartered by the state to serve Brown, Highland, Fayette, Adams, and Clinton counties especially, will offer associate degrees in 12 career programs, plus programs in the arts and sciences. Although the associate degree program is not new, it is often misunderstood.

An associate degree is the degree that is offered by two years colleges and by some four-year institutions that offer two-year programs. The degree itself is more than indication that a student has completed two years of college. Instead, it is a statement that the student has completed two years of college with a specific area of concentration. Within the areas of concentration are courses that are basic to meet the needs of the student in a particular field, such as business administration, education, social service, and many others.

The associate degree has, in recent years, become preferable to many employers in many fields. The employer has found that it is not necessary to spend time and money to re-train a new employee who holds an associate degree. Such an employee already has the technical or other skills required to do the job. He is a much better occupational prospect.

People interested in Southern State College's new two-year programs should contact the admissions office of the nearest campus. Call (513) 382-6646, north campus, or (513) 694-4421, south campus. For those who wish to plan ahead, programs for June summer sessions are now available.

FIRST STUDENT — Charles Terrell, of Wilmington, is shown above with Wilma Mount, secretary at Southern State General and Technical College. Terrell has been officially accepted as the new college's first student on the north campus.

Soviet naval maneuvers massive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian navy is engaged in worldwide maneuvers that may develop into the biggest in peacetime history, Pentagon sources report.

Some 200 Soviet ships have been deployed so far, about the same as in the last such major maneuvers five years ago. Sources said the number is increasing.

All elements of the Soviet navy, including surface warships, submarines and the Russian naval air arm, are said to be involved. Russian merchant ships also are taking part.

Sources said there are indications the Indian Ocean, increasingly important because oil tanker routes pass through those waters, will be a main focus of the Soviet naval exercises.

Other major Russian naval activity has been observed in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean, the Norwegian sea and the Pacific, sources said.

The 1970 exercise, which the Russians called Okean, lasted about three weeks and demonstrated to U.S. naval strategists that the Soviets had achieved an ability to extend their naval reach into all the seas.

Until the early 1960s, the Soviet navy concentrated chiefly on defending home waters and coasts.

Illinois-Indiana waste plan eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army engineer has assured Rep. John T. Myers, R-Ind., Indiana and Illinois would have to agree on the plan before Chicago wastewater could be pumped onto northern Indiana farm fields.

The Chicago-South End of Lake Michigan (C-SELM) plan has sparked a controversy since it was proposed as a means of controlling stream pollution.

Myers, a member of the House

Appropriations Committee, questioned Brig. Gen. W. O. Bachus during recent hearings on the 1976 Army Corps of Engineers budget. Bachus is North Central Division engineer.

"The division is not pushing land treatment or the dumping of any waste material from Illinois into Indiana," he said. He added the decision is "for the governors. The reports are in. We have made no recommendations for further federal action."

Final arguments open in Connally's hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bribery trial of John B. Connally is headed toward closing arguments following the former treasury secretary's admission that some of his testimony conflicts with earlier statements he made.

Connally was the final witness in his own defense, denying that he took two alleged $5,000 payoffs from a milk producers' co-op for helping persuade the Nixon administration to raise milk prices in 1971.

Chief U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart gave each side a maximum of two hours and 15 minutes to present their closing arguments to the jury today. He said his own instructions would take another hour.

Assistant Special Prosecutor Frank M. Tuerkheimer spent more than two hours Tuesday attacking Connally's denials. He forced him to admit a number of contradictions between the story he first told to investigators and the story he told the jury:

—On Nov. 14, 1973 Connally denied to a grand jury that he had spoken more than once in the preceding three or four weeks to Jake Jacobsen, the dairy cop lawyer who is now his chief accuser. Connally now concedes there were two meetings in that time. Connally said he gave a wrong answer before because he misunderstood the question.

—The following April, Connally told the grand jury about the meeting he had omitted mentioning before. But he said it was in the afternoon, and now he says it must have been in the morning. Connally said he simply was mistaken.

—Another time Connally said he had no way to fix the exact date of a meeting with Jacobsen which he now says took place June 25, 1971. "Frankly, our records were better than I thought they were," Connally explained. "I was just wrong."

Tuerkheimer hammered away at Connally's account of a key meeting with Jacobsen Oct. 29, 1973. That's the date Jacobsen says he flew to Connally's Houston law office and got $10,000 in cash, stuffed into a cigar box, to use in covering up the alleged bribes.

Connally says what actually took place was that he asked Jacobsen to investigate a bank charter application.

And Connally admitted that he had testified earlier that he stepped out of the Oct. 29 meeting at one point. Now he and two of his secretaries swear that Connally didn't leave the room at all. Jacobsen says Connally left and came back with the cigar box, cash and rubber gloves.

In his testimony, Connally emphatically denied taking the payoffs or conspiring to cover them up.

OSU grade system changes proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A recommendation has been made by the University Senate of Ohio State University that the grading system at the school be changed.

The committee suggested that teachers be allowed to submit grades as letters as they have been, as numbers in one-tenth point intervals, or as letters with pluses and minuses.

STEAK'S ON — Members of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors Club were on hand Wednesday for the grand opening of the Blue Drummer steak house on Columbus Avenue. The Chamber representatives welcomed Richard Orr (center) and Thomas Orr (right suit), president and chairman of the board of Van-Orr Inc., to Washington C.H. Opening ceremonies were held at 11 a.m., just before the first steaks hit the grill, and none of the ambassadors prolonged the ceremonies because Orr invited the entire group to stay for lunch.

O'Grady presents testimony in phantom worker probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Appearing voluntarily, Eugene P. O'Grady, campaign manager for former Gov. John J. Gilligan, has testified before a grand jury investigating charges of state payroll irregularities after the November election.

O'Grady talked to the Franklin County panel for about an hour and a half Tuesday, but had nothing to say to newsmen following his appearance. The former Democratic state chairman brushed past reporters without so much as the standard no comment reply to questions.

William Bannon, Gilligan's deputy campaign manager, testified Friday and said afterward he had answered all questions. However, Bannon, who also served as a Gilligan recount coordinator, appeared under subpoena and may be called on to return, according to Franklin County Prosecutor George C. Smith.

Smith is investigating allegations that former Democratic campaign workers were put on the state payroll after the election, but failed to report to their assigned jobs.

O'Grady left his state job as highway safety director to run the Gilligan campaign but returned briefly to the post after the election.

The panel also heard Tuesday from Rupert E. Ruppert, a former Gilligan aide, who currently serves as chief of budget and personnel for Atty. Gen. William J. Brown. Two former tax department employees also testified: Elaine Portney of Cleveland and Florence Wilburn, who currently is employed in the Ohio Senate's clerk's office.

Rotarians reminisce

With no formal program scheduled, members of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club received an opportunity to reminisce about the early years of the club during their regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

Program chairman Eli Craig, who called himself "a third generation Rotarian," looked back upon the early years of the club in Washington C. H. and outlined some of the club's most important projects.

"I remember my father coming home and telling me about the meetings," Craig said after informing the Rotarians that the club met for many years in the former Cherry Hotel on N. Main Street.

One of the club's first major projects, according to Craig, was providing support for a crippled children's program. The project was financed almost entirely by a Rotary Club minstrel show and weekly the Rotarians would transport crippled children to an orthopedic hospital in Dayton for treatments.

Craig, marketing director at the Huntington Bank of Washington C. H., said one of the club's key projects years ago was to raise money to send underprivileged children to a YMCA camp during the summer months.

Long-time projects still being carried on by the club include the swimming pool and the Little League baseball program.

During the meeting conducted by club president Paul Crosby, it was announced that 40 Rotary Club members and their guests would be attending the performance of "Marriage Go Round" starring Bob Cummings at the Reynoldsburg dinner theatre next Tuesday.

Ray Downing, general chairman of the Little League fish fry, distributed tickets and work schedules to all Rotarians during the meeting. The fish fry will be held from 4:30 until 7 p.m. Friday, May 9 on the Fayette County Fairground.

Student guests were Jeff Cash, of Washington Senior High School, and Jay Mossbarger, of Miami Trace High School. Guests were Rotary foreign exchange student Salvador Lozano with Robert Simpson and Willis Geyer with Carl Loughary. Lloyd Gegglin of Oxford was a visiting Rotarian.

Richard Conte dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard Conte, 65, veteran actor who often played gangsters or jaded heroes in such films as "Ocean's Eleven" and "The Godfather," died Tuesday. Conte's Italian good looks and soothing voice made him a serviceable performer in films for more than 30 years. He began by playing war heroes in "Guadalcanal Diary" and "A Walk in the Sun," turning to the gangster roles later in his career.

Judge suspends jail sentence

A Jeffersonville woman was fined $100 on a charge of issuing a bad check by acting Municipal Court Judge Robert L. Simpson Tuesday.

Betty Haines, 51, Jeffersonville, was issued the fine and sentenced to 10 days in jail after pleading guilty to the bad check charge. The jail term was suspended pending two years good behavior.

Robert Matson, 28, of 113 Blackstone Ave., was fined $60 when he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct, and Dennis L. Stepter, 29, of 6 Sunny Drive, forfeited $25 bond on a charge of disorderly conduct.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — With a new "family" time in mind, the CBS and NBC television networks are expected to announce their 1975-76 evening program schedules this week, followed by ABC the first week in May.

The first hour of their evening schedules for fall should reflect the "general family" viewing plan adopted last week by a 12-3 vote of the National Association of Broadcasters television board.

The action came after jawboning of the networks by chairman Richard E. Wiley of the Federal Communications Commission on ways to protect young viewers from TV sex and violence early at night.

The "family" plan, now part of the NAB's TV code of standards, goes into effect in September. But it isn't mandatory for the three networks and the TV stations subscribing to the code.

It only says they "should not" air entertainment programs "inappropriate for viewing by a general family audience" during a two-hour period early in the evening.

It defines that period as the first hour of network evening entertainment programming and the immediately preceding local hour.

"Inappropriate" programming isn't defined. But whatever it is, the NAB says in the "occasional case" such a program is aired, viewers should be warned of its content both in promotional material and in audio-visual "advisories" broadcast before and during the show.

The NAB's "family" plan doesn't affect all 709 commercial TV stations in the United States. For one thing, only 540 of them belong to the NAB.

For another, only 415 — all but 20 of them network affiliates — subscribe to the NAB code and must abide by its new "family" provisions.

And the 20 independent station subscribers have been given what amounts to a two-year grace period before they must fall in line.

The NAB says the "family" plan won't apply to programs those stations had bought as of April 8 if the stations, "despite reasonable good faith efforts," found that they couldn't edit them for family viewing or reschedule them for later hours.

However, it says these stations must comply with the TV code's "family" provisions by Sept. 1, 1977.

The delay came after an appeal by the independents. They argued that without a grace period, they'd have no time to build up a backlog of programs — most of them syndicated after network runs — suitable for broadcast during the NAB's "family" viewing hours.

Industrial bonding measure amended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major bill designed to save Ohio consumers "millions of dollars" in utility bills was amended on the Senate floor Tuesday so that Ohio Power Co. and possibly other previously excluded firms would be allowed to participate.

The bill, by Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, permits utilities to use revenue bond financing to construct anti-pollution facilities for the purpose of creating and preserving jobs. The Canton-based utility reportedly has about $60 million in such projects planned.

Under the bill's provisions, bonds for construction money would be issued by a public agency—such as a non-profit improvement corporation and subsequently, repaid with fees charged industrial and, in this instance, utility users. No tax money is involved in the plan, still to be considered by the House, Gillmor explained.

Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, sponsored the amendment that otherwise would have precluded Ohio Power's participation.

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, who helped write Ohio's earlier industrial revenue bonding statute—which excluded utilities—said Ohio Power and Toledo Edison as well would be left out because of their corporate debt structure.

He said in their articles of indenture, filed years ago with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, they limited themselves in the amount of debt they incur to twice their annual income. Currently, Maloney said "I understand they are right at that limit."

Under Lukens' amendment, the Canton-based utility, and possibly others in the same situation, would be permitted to receive the title to the anti-pollution facilities and then pay off a mortgage held by the state through installment payments. Maloney said by retaining the title, the obligation to the state would not be included in the corporate debt.

Otherwise, the bill provides that the state holds title to the new facility until the bonds are paid off with fees charged the industrial user.

Continental man shot to death

PAULDING, Ohio (AP) — Gary Lee Alvarado, 21, of Continental, was found shot to death Monday in the yard of a Paulding residence with a gunshot wound in the head.
Alvarado was rushed to a Fort Wayne, Ind., hospital, where he later died, police said.
Allen County, Ind., Coroner Dr. Gordon Franke said Alvarado apparently died of a bullet wound above the eye fired at close range.

Peter Stuyvesant was a Colonial governor who had only one leg.

Coates new Lions Club president

Richard W. Coates, 678 Robinson Road, was elevated to the presidency of the Washington C.H. Lions Club during the club's regular semi-monthly meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

Besides the election of new officers to serve the club during 1975-1976, the Lions club members also received a preview of "The Music Man" and a report on the highly-successful variety show held in early March.

Coates, an employee of the Burke Monument Co., 153 S. Fayette St., who served as the Lions club's first vice president last year, succeeds Ralph Cook as the club president. The new officers will be installed July 8.

Other officers elected were Jesse L. Persinger, first vice president; George W. (Bud) Naylor, second vice president; James D. Polk, third vice president; William Lucas, secretary; Mike Flynn, assistant secretary; Charles J. Zamjahn, treasurer; Carmen Frogale, assistant treasurer; Bart E. Mahoney, tail twister; John T. Gall, Lion tamer, and Dr. Warren L. Craig and Benjamin G. Roby, members of the board of directors.

More than two dozen members of "The Music Man" cast attended the meeting to present a preview of the musical which will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Miami Trace High School auditorium.

The chorus members sang "Iowa Stubborn" to open the preview and senior Patty Bick, who has the lead female part in the musical as she portrays "Marian the Librarian," sang "Good Night My Someone." Doug Joseph presented a solo before John Schlichter, who has the lead male part, and Miss Bick sang a duet of "Til There Was You," the only love song in the musical.

A dance-song routine by Joseph and Schlichter followed before young Brad Maust pleased the audience with his rendition of "Gary, Indiana." Young Maust promises to be perhaps the most popular character-singer in the production as he portrays "Winthrop," a boy with a speech impediment. The preview ended as the chorus sang "Wells Fargo Wagon."

The numbers were introduced by Mrs. Cinda Stinson, the musical director. Accompaniment was provided by Elise Hill.

Persinger, who served as finance committee chairman for the Lions variety show, reported the club netted a profit of $2,643.16 from the two-performance musical-comedy program. The total included $3,136.25 in ticket sales and $1,277.50 in advertising income; and expenses of $1,770.59. The Lions also viewed color slides of the variety show.

Club treasurer Jim Polk said the club last week contributed $500 to the Lions eye research program; $200 to the pilot dog program; $100 to Lions International; $25 each to the Washington C.H. and Miami Trace American Field Service chapters; and $65 to Buckeye Boys State.

Tuesday night, the board of directors approved payments of $500 to the Lioness club as its share in the variety show profits; $150 to the Fayette Progressive School; $189 for four cases of providing eye glasses to the needy, and $500 to the Babe Ruth Association.

Dr. Byers Shaw reminded club members that the annual colon cancer survey, sponsored by the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society, will be held May 4 in the Medical Arts Building on Willard Street. Over 400 persons attended the survey last year.

A report on the district Lions Club convention held recently in West Union was presented by Coates. He said Doyle Spangler, of Circleville, was elected as the new district deputy governor representing the 2,384 Lions Club members in district 13-J. The Washington C.H. club received a first place award in the district bulletin contest. R.B. (Bud) Tharp serves as the bulletin editor for the Washington C.H. club and was presented a handsome plaque.

Coates also presented progress report on the upcoming Babe Ruth League baseball program, which is sponsored by Lions clubs in Fayette County. He said the club's next meeting will be held at Roszmann Field and the Lions will be involved in the annual cleanup of the park. As the Founder's Day project at the Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H., a new concession stand will be installed at Roszmann Field. Coates also said the Washington C.H. Babe Ruth association needs two new coaches.

Two new members were welcomed into the club. They were William C. Jones, 255 Brentwood Drive, zone sales manager for the Quaker Oats Co., and Maynard Joseph, 1105 Dayton Ave., who is associated with Gorton's Frozen Food locker. Guests were Phil Lines with Charles Zamjahn and Ron Hoxsie with Carmen Frogale.

House OKs land tax measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill which would prohibit the state Board of Tax Appeals from requiring that federal income tax forms be filed for a person to qualify for a special property tax assessment on farm land was approved 90-1 by the House on Tuesday.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. John E. Johnson, D-68 Orrville, said the board now requires farmers to file a copy of their federal Schedule F form with the application for the lower assessment rate.

Schedule F is a breakdown of farm income.

Johnson said the requirement is an invasion of privacy.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by Rep. Joseph P. Tulley, R-59 Mentor, who protested another section of the bill, prohibiting the applications from being made public.

"We are simply creating a milieu where dishonesty could flourish," Tulley said. "No matter how honest a citizen may be, no matter how honest a public official may be, the wisest course is to remove from them all opportunity for chicanery.

"The protection for the rest of the public is that somebody at least has the opportunity to know that it's going on," he said. "I don't see where the bill is damaged by allowing the public to look over the public official's shoulder."

Tulley's attempt to have the secrecy section dropped from the bill was defeated.

Bloodmobile collects 202 pints here

A total of 202 pints of blood were received Tuesday during the Red Cross bloodmobile visit at the Grace United Methodist Church. The bloodmobile visit was sponsored by the Women's Christian Fellowship of the New Holland Church of Christ.

Thirty-nine first time donors attended the bloodmobile visit. There were 24 rejections. Thirty-two volunteer workers logged a total of 190 hours.

Physicians on duty were Dr. Robert Woodmansee, Dr. Robert Anderson, Dr. Philip Binzel, Dr. Robert Heiny and Dr. Thomas Hancock. Registered nurses were Betty Lundberg, Jane Rowe, Corrine Sperry, Joyce Hidy, Gretchen Witherspoon, June Coil, Ann Dorn, Marilee Peterson, Gale Roszmann, Kay Gillen, Jean Shaffer, Elizabeth Wright, Florence Purcell, Hannah Morris, Carol Halliday, Margaret Johnson and Judith Maynard. ## Fare cut for elderly delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Transportation officials have promised to present a workable reduced bus fare plan for elderly Ohioans before June 30. The money for the program has been available since last July.

Called before the Senate Transportation and Local Government Committee Tuesday, a department official said a plan would be ready to use the $2 million appropriation to provide 10 cent fare reductions during non-peak hours.

The announcement came shortly after House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, issued a statement castigating the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes for "a lack of executive follow-through."

"After eight months, I find that the executive branch of government has not implemented the program, and in fact, appears to have no plans to," Riffe complained. "I believe this executive inaction is a tragic disregard of a legislative directive, and cannot be tolerated."

Howard Bovard, the transportation spokesman, told the Senate committee a plan for a 25 cent fare cut had been offered at a public hearing last January. But he said it met "with definite opposition" and was shelved by transportation director Richard Jackson.

Since then, Bovard said, proposals to use the money as a means to attract federal mass transit grants had delayed the framing of a plan. "We haven't done anything to the extent that the elderly have not had a fare reduction," he conceded.

Jackson inherited the $2 million and the job of implementing a plan when he took the reins of the department from Gilligan administration officials in January.

Bovard said the department would move ahead with the 10 cent plan for senior citizens but acceded to a committee request to further explore the possibility of using the money to draw federal funds.

"We're going to suggest that they

(the legislature) might want to come up with other money and go for federal grants to try for a 50 per cent fare reduction," he said after the meeting.

Bovard said the $2 million, available under the current appropriation, would be depleted by 10 cent fare reductions within nine or 10 months. The legislature could, however, appropriate additional money to keep such a program alive.

Supporters of the elderly bus fare assistance program had hoped that a more dramatic reduction could be instituted on a full-time basis.

"I'm still disturbed that we're talking about a 10 cent fare reduction rather than a 10 cent fare and that we're still talking about (non) peak hours rather than 24 hours," said Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland.

Traffic Court

Two persons were fined Tuesday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court by acting Judge Robert L. Simpson on charges of consuming alcoholic beverages in a vehicle.

Edford Whitt, 51, Leesburg, and Leemon Cline, 59, Beaver, both pleaded no contest to the charge and were fined $50 each.

Bond forfeitures: Florence J. Pond, 58, Wilmington, $500, driving while intoxicated, and $25, left of center; Wesley C. Shaffer, 18, of 1023 N. North St., $35, squealing tires; Karen J. Joseph, 32, New Holland, $25, speeding; Larry L. Garringer, 36, Jeffersonville, $25, failure to yield the right of way; Emil L. Weber, 35, Jeffersonville, $25, speeding; Jewell R. Dille, 40, Bloomingburg, $25, failure to maintain assured clear distance; and Lloyd E. Burlile, 36, of 520 Third St., $18, disobeyed traffic device.

Ottmar Mergenthaler, a Baltimore machinist, invented the keyboard method of typesetting, which revolutionized newspaper publishing.

4-H roundup

BY JEANNIE ANDERSON

4-H Program Assistant

With spring in the air and summer fast approaching, you can help 4-H'ers repair their own bikes, so they'll not only save money but prevent serious injuries they might suffer while riding unsafe bikes.

To start, you'll need a few simple tools - an open-end spanner wrench for pedals and wheel-bearing cones, an air pump, tire gauge, spoke wrench, pressure oil can, crescent wrench, screwdriver, pliers, hammer, chain tool for driving rivets in and out of chain links, tire irons and rubber patching kit for repairing tubes.

Flat tires probably will be cyclists' biggest repair problem. Mending one takes about 10 minutes. Sometimes, the cause may be as simple as a loose valve core, which can be corrected in seconds by merely tightening it with a brass dust cap tool.

If your trouble isn't there though take off the wheel and force air from the tire. Remove it from rim by inserting a bicycle tire iron between rim and tire, and prying. You need only remove one side of the tire so you can pull out the tube. Fill it with air, and stick it in a pan of water. Bubbles reveal holes. Repair the leak with a patch, cut it large enough to extend at least half an inch around the puncture.

Pedals, too, need maintenance. Grease bearings about twice a year. If your bike's pedals don't come apart, just squeeze a little oil into openings near moving parts occasionally. Spin the pedals to work in the oil.

On the handlebar repairs. If handlebars twist up and down after you've fully tightened the stem clamp, loosen it and slide in a small strip of metal, between the bar and the stem. Then tighten the bolt, and handlebars will again be secure. If you ever contort handlebars in a fall, straighten them by pulling on one end. But if they're considerably weakened by the fall and straightening, get new ones.

Never ride without handlebar grips unless you want to chance being impaled during a fall. Replace worn and loose handlebar grips, too, because they might slip off as you attempt a turn or tug on them to apply heavy pedal pressure.

Fixing chain problems, especially with multi-speed bikes, may require professional help, but you may be able to repair some of the simpler repairs.

A thrown chain really can crimp biking fun, so learn now how the chain is laid out on your bike, before it ever falls off, so you know how it should go back on.

A little oil applied to your bike's working parts once a month and particularly after riding in the rain, will keep wheel axles, pedals, cranks, gear changers, brake handles and other moving parts operating smoothly, and ward off major repairs, or more importantly, possible serious accidents. Some immovable parts of your bike also need oil, to prevent rust and damage.

Keeping your bike in good repair can mean the difference between life and death on busy streets, or at least between fun and not so much fun, for occasional joy-riding.

Bike repair might turn into an interesting hobby for you or your 4-H-ers, as you keep your cycles operating smoothly.

For more information about 4-H bicycling project call the County Extension Office at 335-1150.

"No Dane lives more than 35 miles from the sea or, for that matter, more than 568 feet above it," noted William Graves in the National Geographic.

Plans progressing well for cancer crusade here

April is Cancer Crusade Month and local activities are progressing well according too Fayette County general chairman Tom Mark. He and co-chairman Dick Anthony have outlined the various sectors of the county, and volunteers have begun seeking help from area residents.

The business establishments have been divided into two groups, the downtown businesses and those in the outlying areas. Bill Link of City Loan and Savings Co. is chairman of the downtown area collections. Those who will be approaching downtown merchants for contributions are Garv Anders, Joe Burbage, George Geesling, Jay Hyer, Jerry Johnson, Miss Debbie Lawrence, Randy Martindale, Miss Sandy Merritt, Bill Metais, Ted Quinsberry, Ed Reeves, Steve Smallwood, Jack Warner and Dale Willis.

Jim Wilson, president of the Fayette County Bank, is in charge of the outlying businesses. Four women who are employed by the bank have volunteered to visit the 59 establishments in the county. The volunteers are Mrs. Pam Osborne, Mrs. Alana Walters, Mrs. Diana Damron and Mrs. Bonnie Taylor.

Visiting of area businesses began April 7, and Mark said all should be contacted by the end of April. He noted that although it is an important part of the visit, soliciting is not the sole purpose. "Dissemination of literature to educate the public about cancer and related research is also important," Mark explained.

Other efforts will be directed to civic organizations and clubs (Don Stebleton of Capital Finance, chairman), individuals who have been staunch supporters of the Cancer Crusade in the past (Dave Looker of First National Bank), county industries (Tom Snyder of Cudahy) and professional persons (John H. Roszmann, chairman). Mark said that programs to contact these groups are presently getting underway.

He added that door-to-door soliciting will begin April 27 in Washington C.H. and rural areas.

The annual cancer dessert smorgasbord will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 24 in the Mahan Building at the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Sutton, Dodgers stop Reds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Sutton had just hurled a one-hitter, giving up only a seventh inning home run to Cincinnati's Johnny Bench in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 3-1 victory over the Reds Tuesday night when he was asked if he'd ever pitched a better baseball game.

"It was not my best game," said the Dodger right-hander. "I made a lot of mistakes tonight. I just got away with all of them...well, all but one of them. Every time I made a mistake somebody caught the ball. Unfortunately, the mistake I made on the pitch to Bench was caught by a guy who paid $3.50 for his seat."

The victory was the Dodgers' second in a row over the Reds after losing three straight to Cincinnati last week. It was their third in succession overall and fourth in their last five games.

For Sutton, who has given up just two runs in 25 innings in three starts this season, the victory was his 11th straight over two seasons and, including two playoff triumphs and one in the World Series, he's now won 14 decisions in a row.

"To win," he said, "a pitcher has to be good sometimes, be so-so and get a few breaks or be bad and get a lot of breaks. Few guys dominate."

"But right now it's just like it was in October. I'm throwing all my pitches for strikes. In fact, I can't remember ever pitching three games in a row like I have my three starts this season."

Jim Wynn walloped his third homer in as many games, a two-run shot in the first inning off loser Clay Kirby, 0-1, which followed a game-opening triple by Dave Lopes.

Sutton wheeled through the Reds, facing the minimum number of hitters for 6 2-3 innings. He had walked Joe Morgan in the first inning on a 3-2 pitch, but he was quickly erased on a double play. Not another Red reached base until Bench homered on Sutton's first pitch to him in the seventh.

"I thought about the no-hitter and I figured that if I got Joe Morgan out in the seventh I'd get it," Sutton said. "So I strike out Morgan and what happens? The next guy hits it out."

"But even more than the nohitter or the shutout is the fact that it was against the Reds."

Sutton helped himself in that respect in the bottom half of the inning when he batted in the Dodgers' third run. He bunted perfectly along the first base line to squeeze home Joe Ferguson who had been hit with a pitch and was doubled to third by Ron Cey.

Padres 2, Giants 1
Randy Jones allowed two hits in seven innings and Bobby Tolan and Willie McCovey delivered run-scoring singles as San Diego rallied in the eighth.

Mike Caldwell blanked the Padres on five hits over the first seven innings and an unearned run in the first put the Giants on top 1-0. But Glenn Beckert, leading off the eighth as a pinch hitter for Jones, was safe on an error by second baseman Derrel Thomas, a former Padre. Pinch runner John Scott stole second and third and, after a walk to Enzo Hernandez, scored the tying run on Tolan's single.

Hernandez went to third on Tolan's hit and, after John Grubb was hit with a pitch, scored the winner on a bloop single by ex-Giant McCovey off reliever Gary Lavelle.

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It was enough to make Oakland forget about Catfish Hunter — and enough to make A's Manager Alvin Dark forget ... period.

When Hunter escaped from his contract, and ultimately escaped from Oakland to take up residence with the Yankees in New York, a lot of people predicted the gap left in the A's pitching corps by the departure of the Cy Young Award winner would be a damaging blow.

It might have been if Mike Norris hadn't surfaced in spring training, winning a spot on the A's roster, earning a berth in the starting rotation — and taking over Hunter's old No. 27.

In his major league debut last Thursday, Norris three-hit Chicago and won 9-0. And on Tuesday night, he twirled seven innings of one-hit ball in Kansas City before Dark, figuring his young hurler was getting arm-weary, called for veteran reliever Paul Lindblad in the eighth to protect the A's 3-1 lead.

A few pitches later the lead was gone, compliments of Al Cowens' two-run homer.

And an inning later, the game was gone, too. The Royals won it 4-3 on Hal McRae's single and George Brett's double off Rolie Fingers.

In the rest of the American League, it was Boston 5, Catfish and the Yanks 3; Milwaukee 7, Baltimore 1; California 7, Minnesota 3, and Texas 6, Chicago 5.

Norris allowed only Cookie Rojas' second-inning single in his stint against the Royals. But when the leadoff runner got on in the eighth — through no fault of his own — and Norris threw a couple of bad pitches to Tony Solaita, Dark figured it was time to make a move. Vada Pinson had just reached first on Joe Rudi's error at first base when Dark called for Lindblad.

"I thought he was tired when I took him out," said Dark. And Norris didn't deny it. "I lost my concentration and got the ball up to Solaita," he said. "I got behind. Maybe I was a little tired."

Cowens then replaced Solaita at the plate and put a Lindblad pitch far over the left field wall.

"He was great," Dark said of Norris. "I still haven't seen him pitch a bad ball game."

Red Sox 5, Yankees 3

The Yanks built up a 3-0 lead against Bill Lee, but it evaporated in the Red Sox' four-run fourth. A walk and singles by Bernie Carbo and Bob Montgomery produced one run, Doug Griffin's single loaded the bases, a sacrifice fly by Fred Lynn made it 3-2, Griffin stole second and Dwight Evans singled for two more runs. Carbo doubled and scored Boston's final run on Rick Burleson's single when Hunter departed in the eighth.

Brewers 7, Orioles 1

Robin Yount's tie-breaking single triggered a six-run eighth inning — with the final five runs unearned because of three Baltimore errors — that backed Bill Champion's five-hit pitching for the Brewers.

Angels 7, Twins 3

Bruce Bochte hit a two-run double and Bob Darwin's three-base error let Mickey Rivers race home with the tie-breaking run in the Angels' decision over Minnesota that gave Nolan Ryan his third straight victory and ruined the Twins' home opener.

California trailed 3-2 before Orlando Ramirez singled to start the seventh inning, took second on a grounder and scored when Rivers singled to right.

Gears top Muskegon

SAGINAW (AP) — The Saginaw Gears, refusing to play dead for the Muskegon Mohawks, have evened their International Hockey League semifinal playoff series at three games each. The Turner Cup finalist from the league's Northern Division will be decided Friday at Muskegon.

Circleville runs by Panther trackmen

CIRCLEVILLE — The Miami Trace tracksters ran up against the defending South Central Ohio League champion and as usual the Circleville Tigers easily won another conference dual meet, 96-31.

The Warnocks provided the Panthers with most of their points as Bill Warnock pulled off a tripe-winning performance and Ron Warnock grabbed top honors in the shot put before placing third in the discus.

Gary Combs was also a winner for the Panther thinclads picking up first in the mile with his best time of the season and placing third in the half mile.

The only other Panthers to pick up points were Jeff Rodgers with a second place finish in the mile behind Combs and Dan Gifford with a third place finish in the high jump.

Bill Warnock took first in the 100, 220 and the quarter mile with a season best of :10.5 in the 100-yard dash.

Circleville swept four events including the pole vault, an event Miami Trace doesn't compete in, plus first place finishes in both the relay races.

The Panther thinclads next meet is scheduled for Thursday at Chillicothe.

Error plagued Panthers drop contest despite two homers

JAMESTOWN — Miami Trace got eleven hits, including two home runs, and pushed eight runs across the plate against the Greenview Rams baseball team in non-league action Tuesday, but it all added up to another loss for the Panthers as Greenview managed seven unearned to take a 10-8 victory.

The Panthers' defense again faltered committing six errors in the loss, but this time they showed Coach Dave Pellori some hitting with eight runs coming in the final three innings to put the Panthers back in the ball game.

Miami Trace fell behind 7-0 as the Rams scored five runs in the second inning on five hits and three Panther errors. Then, Greenview got two more runs in the home half of the fourth inning to chase Panther starter Jack James from the mound.

TRACE BROUGHT out some hot bats in the top of the fifth to put four runs on the scoreboard. With two out and two on, Greg Cobb tripped to drive in the first two Trace runs. Tom Riley followed Cobb's extra basehit with the Panthers' first home run of the season to cut the Rams lead to three.

Greenview added two more runs in the fifth on a home run by the Rams' first baseman Gregory which was one of three roundtrippers for the day on the hard Greenview turf in the outfield.

An Alan Conner homer accounted for three runs in the Panthers sixth making the score 9-7, but the Rams added an insurance run off Conner, who came in to relieve James.

THE PANTHER'S added a run in the seventh on Cobb's third hit of the day giving him three runs batted in, but the last inning run wasn't enough as the Panthers' dropped the 10-8 decision.

Conner was tagged with the loss despite a three hit pitching performance and Murray got the win for Greenview.

The Panthers host Westfall Wednesday before going to Greenfield Friday for a league rematch of Monday's game.

Spirits eliminate Nets in playoffs

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — No one is going to take the Spirits of St. Louis lightly anymore, least of all the New York Nets.

The spirited Spirits, playing with confidence and determination, shocked the Nets with a 108-107 victory Tuesday night, eliminating New York's defending champions from the American Basketball Association playoffs.

The triumph was the Spirits' fourth in a row — their longest streak of the season — and gave them the best-of-seven Eastern Division semifinal series, 4-1. The miraculous and unexpected comeback by the Spirits, a group of very promising, vastly-improved rookies and discarded veterans, was more remarkable in view of the fact that St. Louis had lost all 11 regular season games to the Nets, plus the playoff opener.

It thrust the Spirits into the Eastern Division final against Kentucky, the regular season division champions and a winner over Memphis in the other East semifinal series. The best-of-seven St. Louis-Kentucky series will open Monday night in Kentucky.

Indiana leads San Antonio 3-2 in their Western Division semis and the winner will meet Denver, which eliminated Utah earlier in the week.

"There was a stigma put on our guys early in the season as a happy-go lucky bunch," Coach Bob MacKinnon said of the St. Louis team, which joined the league only this season. "Sure, there were things happening on our club, but I don't think the tag was correct."

Regardless, the Spirits proved they could play basketball. After a slow start the Spirits gradually molded into a respectable unit, reaching their peak with the ouster of the shocked Nets.

The catalyst of the club was Freddie Lewis, who had played on three championship teams in seven years at Indiana before being traded prior to this season to Memphis, and then being grabbed by the Spirits in an early-season deal.

Lewis, the third-leading scorer in ABA playoff history, proved his mettle in the final game against the Nets. He led St. Louis with 29 points, including the team's last 10 in the final two minutes, and his 20-foot jump shot with three seconds left won the game.

Blue Lion thinclads drop dual meet to Wilmington

WILMINGTON — The Wilmington Hurricanes handed the Washington Blue Lions a tough 71-55 track loss on the Wilmington cinders Tuesday.

Jeff Brown again led the Lions in scoring with a win in the discus and the quarter mile plus an anchor winning run in the mile relay.

Washington was handed the pole vault with Greg Marti and Jim Runnels splitting the points as the lone Wilmington pole vaulter failed to show up for the meet.

The Lions weren't so lucky in the sprints with the Hurricane speedsters placing 1-2 in the 100 and the 220-yard dashes.

Slower times were turned in on the longer races in comparison to the dashes run on the straight-aways, because the Wilmington track was a little soggy on the turns according to Washington track mentor Richard Crooks. Brown only managed a sub-minute quarter mile, even though he finished first in the race.

Other winners for Washington were Mark Workman in the high hurdles and Ed DeWeese in the half mile. Washington's mile relay team couldn't break four minutes on the loose cinders, but the time was good enough for a first place finish.

Washington meets Hillsboro Thursday on the Blue Lions' oval before traveling to Unioto on Saturday to compete in the Unioto metric. The metric will attract eleven teams this year and all races will be run on the metric system.

Tribe chief was right on weather

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Indians' General Manager Phil Seghi is pleased over the weather forecasting he did several months ago when he insisted on having the Detroit Tigers reschedule a three-game series that had been planned this week in Cleveland.

"We knew the weather in Cleveland would be bad," Seghi said with a happy grin Tuesday. "It's always had this time of year."

Jim Campbell, general manager of the Tigers, was irked by the schedule change and had talked of taking his team back to Florida for the four-day layoff.

"I hope Campbell calls," Seghi said. "I'll tell him how lucky he is to save plane fare and his hotel bill. We wouldn't have played today."

There was rain and a few snow flurries in Cleveland Tuesday, although the precipitation stopped later in the day.

The games which had been scheduled originally for Tuesday, today and Thursday will be second games of doubleheaders later in the year.

The Indians also have scheduled all their April games for daylight hours. "Playing at night in Cleveland is just asking for a postponement," said Seghi.

Scott May winner of silver basketball

CHICAGO (AP) — Scott May, who led Indiana University to one of its most successful basketball campaigns in recent years, has been named winner of the Chicago Tribune Silver Basketball for the 1975 season.

The award is presented annually to the most valuable player in the Big Ten.

May, a 6-7 junior from Sandusky, Ohio, led the Hoosiers to a perfect 18-0 Big Ten championship and 31-1 overall record. Prior to an injury suffered in the conference clincher against Purdue Feb. 22, he led the Hoosiers in scoring with an 18-point per game average.

Reds trade Tom Hall

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hardhitting utility player Dan Driessen was activated from the disabled list Tuesday after the Reds traded left-hand relief pitcher Tom Hall to the New York Mets.

The Reds received left-hand pitcher Mac Scarce from New York and immediately optioned him to the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association, Cincinnati's Class AAA farm team.

Driessen, who played third base last year, is expected to be used also at first and in the outfield. He suffered a broken wrist while playing winter ball.

Hall was 3-1 in a reduced number of appearances for Cincinnati last season and had a 5.06 earned run average in three appearances this season giving up 24 hits and 12 runs in 16 innings.

Scarce was 3-8 last season with Philadelphia and had a 5.01 ERA.

Brooks Robinson was only 18 when he played six games at third base for the Baltimore Orioles in 1955.

Pet Food for People?

Is it really true that some people are eating pet food because of the economic squeeze? How dangerous is it? Miss R.R., Tenn.

Dear Miss R.:

Stories about eating pet food have been publicized to emphasize the high cost of meat and the financial problems of some segments of society.

Those who are really involved in eating pet food have a greater problem than just financial stress. I think it is utterly ridiculous to eat pet food. It is potentially dangerous to human beings.

Many nutritious, meatless meals can be prepared. With inexpensive vitamin supplements they can maintain adequate nutrition.

It has been found that there are high levels of lead in some of the canned pet foods. The Pet Food Institute in Washington, D.C., states, "A number of pet food manufacturers maintain large kennels where animals on pet food diets are regularly examined. The extensive records of these kennels show no indication of lead poisoning in these test animals."

Nevertheless, the practice of eating pet foods should be abandoned. There are too many potential hazards to humans.

There are many other ways to maintain adequate nutrition.

Can the mumps gland become swollen without having mumps? I have had two attacks of mumps before. Mr. C.R., Ga.

Dear Mr. R.:

One attack of mumps usually confers permanent immunity. When repeated attacks of mumps are said to occur, there is greater likelihood of other reasons for the swelling.

The parotid glands, on either side of the face, are the ones that are affected by mumps. These glands produce saliva which empties into the mouth through a tiny duct. Saliva contains important digestive juices.

These same glands can also be affected by other types of germs, different from the virus that produces mumps. Tiny stones in the duct may cause back pressure of saliva and produce swelling of the gland.

There are now methods by which the duct and the gland can be studied by X-ray. Abnormalities of the gland and the duct can be detected early.

The bidding:

East South West North
3 ♦ Dble Pass 4 ♣
Pass 4 ♥ Dble

Opening lead - ten of diamonds.

The chief purpose of a preemptive bid is to make things difficult for the opponents. There is usually very little hope of making a game - witness East's three diamond bid - but rather a hope that the opponents, who presumably have the balance of strength, will get fouled up in the bidding.

Consider this deal where East opened three diamonds and South doubled for takeout. West passed and North responded four clubs. South understandably went to four hearts, and West just as understandably doubled.

Declarer won the diamond lead with the ace and played the queen of trumps. West took the ace and led a second diamond. East won and returned a spade, permitting West to cash the A-Q and lead a third spade for East to ruff.

East returned a club to partner's ace and West later scored the jack of trumps to defeat the contract four tricks - 1,100 points!

If you study the matter fairly, you find that South did nothing terribly wrong in the bidding. He might have bid three hearts instead of doubling, but that was his only real alternative. Even so, he would have gone down 800. To pass three diamonds was simply impossible. Of course, had North held West's hand, the double would have worked out exceedingly well. In that case, North-South might have reached a grand slam in spades, which could not be defeated.

The actual deal helps to focus the advantages that sometimes accrue from a preemptive bid. Players who pass up the opportunity for a preemptive bid with a weak hand often lose a chance to create a windfall in their favor. Who would think, looking only at East's hand, that his three diamond bid would produce 1,100 points?

Youth Activities

JASPER TOP-NOTCHERS

The meeting of the Jasper Top-Notchers 4-H club was called to order by Mark Wilson, when pledges were given by Johnny Blair. Minutes were read by Secretary Wilson and a new member, Timmy Anderson, was welcomed to the club.

Reports were given as follows: Treasurer Mike McFadden reported money in the club, junior health boy Johnny then gave a report on "Cancer," and junior health girl Mary Beth McFadden gave a report on "Air Pollution." The topic "Heart Attacks" was made by senior health girl and Tim Anders, senior health boy, reported on "Thinking About Drinking."

The lamb prospect sale is April 25, lamb and pig selection April 22, and the Junior leader meeting April 23.

The next meeting of the club will be April 21 at the Charles Hiser residence. The McFaddens will be in charge of refreshments. Mike and Mary Beth McFadden adjourned the meeting.

Tim Anders, reporter

BROWNIE TROOP 211

Brownie Troop 211 of Bloomingburg went to Welsh's Greenhouse for a field trip this past week. Before leaving the school, leaders Mrs. Donna Autrey and Mrs. Sue Arnold, reviewed rules for the field trip with the troop and collected permission slips. Brownie Gold was collected.

At the Greenhouse, Mrs. Martha Welsh gave a most interesting tour and described the different types of house and garden plants. Mrs. Welsh also explained that although they do cut flower arrangements, they do have the plants and artificial flower arrangements for hospitals and special occasions.

She also showed the girls how plants from cuttings were rooted and how the plant would look full grown. She explained all plants need water, warmth, and sun and showed them how plants are transplanted at a certain stage of growth.

Following the tour, each girl was presented with a potted marigold. The girls all sang the "Brownie Smile Song."

The meeting was adjourned after returning to the school. Refreshments for next week will be brought by Mary Souther.

BLUE RIBBON CHAMPS 4-H

Bill Schaefer, acting in place of President Raymond Mick, called the Parent's Night Meeting of the Blue Ribbon Champs 4-H Club to order. Chrystal Matthews led the Pledges and Bill Schaefer gave devotions. Members were asked to introduce their parents and announce their projects in response to the roll call by Lisa Perrill. She read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved as read. Mark Smithson gave the treasurer's report. Lorrie Holloway reported on the success of the annual Easter Egg Hunt toward which the club had made a donation, and Bill Schaefer gave a report on pig judging. Following a discussion of the road clean-up activity in Paint Township, it was voted to set the date at a time later than April 19. Lisa Perrill reported the activities at the recent Officer's and Advisor's Conference at Bloomingburg School.

Important announcements concerned the hog sale at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Fairgrounds; the lamb prospects sale April 25th at 6:30 p.m. at the show arena, and the lamb and pig selection clinic May 22nd from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Fairgrounds.

Mark Holloway, senior health leader, Kim Chakres, junior health leader, and Terry Mick, senior safety leader, all gave reports on effects of alcohol. Sandy Schaefer, junior safety leader reported on "Safety with Chemicals."

The guest speaker was Sheriff Don Thompson who spoke about the "Dangers in Drinking Alcoholic Beverages." About 50 per cent of highway fatalities are caused by the drunk driver, he said.

Refreshments were served by the Junior Leaders in the club.

MERRY MAIDENS 4-H

The group met at Madison Mills school at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, April 8th. The advisors had three mothers; Mrs. Havens, Mrs. Kaser and Mrs. Henry volunteer to assist in transporting the members for a tour of the Buckeye Mart's Fabric Department.

The group was greeted at the door by the assistant manager Mr. Don Braithwait who led us to the fabric department where he introduced the lady in charge as Mrs. Marilyn Kimmert. Mrs. Kimmert showed the members what kind of material could be used for their projects which was very helpful.

After the tour the group went to MacDonald's to eat.

The members were returned to the school at 6:00 P.M. for pick-up.

Next meeting will be April 22th from 4 to 5:30 p.m. at the school. Refreshments will be served by Lisa Melvin and Cheryl Blue.

HAPPY BLUE BELLES

Members of the Happy Blue Belles met at Belle-Aire School for the regular meeting, when Amy Wyatt served refreshments during the business session. Julie Boswell gave roll call and Melissa Climer collected dues. Each responded by naming a favorite summer activity.

The girls completed a thank-you note to the First National Bank of New Holland, for sponsoring the group's picture in The Record-Herald for National Camp Fire Birthday Week.

Following the Bluebird Wish, they completed more pages in their workbooks. They all enjoyed a play period out-of-doors after which the girls formed a friendship circle sang "The Bluebird Goodbye Song" and were dismissed.

The next meeting will be April 21 with Julie Boswell serving refreshments.

Local firemen probing suspected arson case

Washington C.H. firemen are presently investigating what they believe to be an incident of arson and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported a car fire.

A fire, believed to have been purposely started in a metal trash container at Rose Avenue Elementary School, 412 Rose Avenue, is currently under investigation by Washington C.H. Assistant Fire Chief, John Rockhold.

Firemen were summoned to the school at 4:26 p.m. Tuesday, where they subdued the fire with water.

No one was injured and no damage was reported by fire officials.

A 1967 model Cadillac, owned by James Roberts, caught fire in the garage of his Leesburg area residence, Tuesday.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies at the scene, reported Roberts' brother-in-law, Steve Miller, was working on the auto when the carburetor backfired and the engine ignited. There was fire damage to the car and heavy smoke damage to the garage, house and furnishings.

Firemen from Greenfield and Concord-Greene fire departments responded and extinguished the blaze.

Daylight burglary probed

Washington C. H. police are investigating a burglary which occurred in daylight while a Washington C. H. man slept in his home.

Ronnie J. Duncan, 24, stuck a knife in his door to secure it and then laid down at his 604½ Gregg St. residence to get some sleep at 9 a.m. Tuesday. When he awoke at noon, he found someone had slipped in and stolen his wallet containing $10 from his pants pocket.

Washington C. H. police reported the burglar reached through a broken window and removed the knife to gain entry to Duncan's home.

An investigation into the incident is being conducted.

A rock was thrown through a window pane and a storm window at the Gospel Mission Church, 504 Fourth St., at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, police reported.

Arrests

POLICE

TUESDAY — Richard L. Henry, 24, Old Springfield Road, bench warrant for failure to appear; Frank Merritt, 42, New Holland, disorderly conduct.

Ave., was treated for a laceration of the right hand and then released from Fayette Memorial Hospital, after she tripped over a rope separating the dining room at Frisch's Restaurant, 543 Clinton Ave.

Police stated that when Mrs. Lowe fell, at 10:53 p.m. Tuesday, she was holding a bottle which broke in her hand.

A 33-year-old Washington C. H. woman was treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital at 9 p.m. Tuesday, after taking an overdose of aspirin. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported the woman had been despondent over domestic problems.

Correction

The Record-Herald incorrectly reported the keys being in a vehicle belonging to James H. Comstock Jr., Newark, which was stolen from 122 W. Temple St., the evening of April 2. The keys were not in the auto.

Highland jury trial canceled

HILLSBORO — A jury trial scheduled to open Wednesday morning in Highland County Common Pleas Court was cancelled after the two defendants entered guilty pleas to lesser charges.

Prospective jurors had been summoned, but none were seated when Vernon R. Jenkins, 23, of Greenfield, and Rex A. Erskine, 21, Rt. 2, Greenfield, entered guilty pleas to discharging a firearm from a motor vehicle.

The two defendants had been indicted by a Highland County grand jury in connection with a shooting incident at the residence of a Greenfield police officer. They were arrested by Highland County Sheriff's deputies and were charged with felonious assault, damaging an occupied structure and discharging a firearm from a motor vehicle.

The charges of felonious assault and damaging an occupied structure were dismissed after plea bargaining sessions. The charge of discharging a firearm from a motor vehicle is a misdemeanor and carries a possible six-month jail sentence and or a $1,000 fine. The cases of both Jenkins and Erskine were referred to the court's probation department for pre-sentence investigations.

Jenkins was represented by Jon Hapner of Hillsboro and Erskine's defense counsel was John Bryan of Washington C.H.

The shooting incident occurred last Sept. 14 at the home of Greenfield

Police Sgt. Gregory Hadley, Ohio 28, just west of Greenfield. No one was injured.

Hancock dog wins honors

"Champion Ruttkay Ruf-N-Ready," one of six champion Keeshonden owned by Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hancock, CCC Highway-E, was awarded "best of breed" over an entry of 19 other dogs and then went on to win the "non-sporting group" honor at the Dayton Kennel Club's All-Breed Dog Show last weekend.

Although "Ruffy" has several group placings to his credit, this was his first time to be a group winner.

Find plane warned before fatal crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small plane that crashed on the American University campus Jan. 25, killing two crewmen and three prominent Ohio businessmen, was warned twice it was off course, it was learned Tuesday.

Transcripts of the recorded conversations between the aircraft and National Airport tower and Federal Aviation Administration controllers were submitted at a National Transportation Safety Board hearing into the crash.

They showed that an airport local controller warned the aircraft that it was "slightly left of course" slightly before the plane struck a radio tower on the campus, crashed and burned.

An FAA controller relayed a second warning to the aircraft through the local tower, but that time there was no response from the plane.

The Beach BE-90 King Air, was on a flight from Columbus, Ohio, to National Airport when the crash occurred.

Killed in the accident were the pilot Richard N. White, copilot Robert D. Hatem and passengers Edgar T. Wolfe Jr., publisher of The Columbus Dispatch, and prominent Columbus businessmen Frederick W. Leveque and Carlton S. Dargush, Jr. Hatem was from Shawnee, Ohio. White also was from Columbus.

FAA controllers monitored the plane's instrument approach until it was about 12 miles from the airport. Radio communication with the aircraft was then switched to the local tower.

FAA controller Edward Parks testified he noticed the aircraft was about 1,200 feet from the ground and relayed an advisory to the plane through the local tower. By then, the aircraft had acknowledged the tower's warning that it was off course and ceased its communication with the ground.

Parks said when he issued the warning, which he described as a safety advisory, he did not believe an emergency existed.

"A safety advisory is an additional service and that is entirely up to my discretion (as a controller)," he said. But he also testified that although other obstructions, including some radio towers, were depicted on his radar screen, the American University tower was not.

There is a national monument called Craters of the Moon in Idaho.
